How the American People Bear Their Grand Triumph.

The surrender of LEE and his army was first announced to the people of New-York in an extra TIMES, issued at 11:30, on Sunday night. The premature announcement on Friday had the effect of making the people incredulous; the hour of the real announcement was late, and, as it was on Sunday night, the weary world was wending bedward, there was not that amount of rejoicing which would naturally have arisen at an earlier hour. Yet the excitement was equaled only by that which followed the attack upon Fort Sumter; the surrender of LEE and his army was anticipated, looked for, and to a great extent discounted in advance. The utter demoralization of the rebel army, the increased esprit of our own forces, the vigorous pursuit of the Union troops and the prophecy of Gen. GRANT had prepared us for the great news which, on Sunday night, was flashed across the wires to an expectant public. Despite this, however, the errand of the mercurial newsboys was successful;—with their arms full of extras, they rushed up town and over to the neighboring cities, shouting the glad tidings as they ran, so that before the morning papers disclosed the fact, the great mass of the people were aware that LEE and his armed men no longer stood in the pathway of the Army of the Potomac. Newsboys and news extras have been detected ere this in imposing upon a credulous and a hopeful people, and at the hotels it was some little time before the cries of the little fellows were regarded with attention. But the dispatch characteristic of Secretary STANTON, settled every doubt, and the wildest delirium of joy seized everybody and held possession for the night.

AT THE POST-OFFICE

the intelligence was received at eleven o'clock. The night clerks immediately organized a meeting, with Mr. THOMAS J. O'BRIEN as Chairman, and Mr. CALEB S. BABCOCK as Secretary. The dispatch of the Secretary was read aloud and the tidings received with hearty cheers. Afterward speeches were made and the following unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTIONS

Resolved, That we hail with joy the glorious news of the surrender of Gen. LEE and the remnant of his rebel army to Gen. GRANT, and while the fact will thrill with gratitude the heart of every loyal man in the nation, we desire in this moment of honest exultation to tender our thanks to the brave rank and file of the army, who, through peril and hardship have won for us this glorious victory.

Resolved, That to Gen. GRANT and his subordinate officers who have so skillfully and successfully led our army to victory, we also tender our heartfelt thanks.

Yet while we return thanks to our brave army who have so nobly defended our "old flag," we would not forget those who have fallen in its defence, and whose memory shall be retained by all lovers of Constitutional Liberty; and be it therefore

Resolved, That to the bereaved friends of those fallen heroes, we would tender our most sincere sympathies, and for consolation would point them to Him who doeth all things well. THOS. J. O'BRIEN, President.

CALEB S. BABCOCK, Secretary.

The interior of the Post-office is gay with the emblems of patriotism and rivals the beautiful display at the Custom-house, in the tasteful arrangement of flags and mottoes. The several departments and tables vie with each other in elaborate adornment, and one would imagine that a sudden eruption of flags had come upon the entire building. The "Erie table" is particularly noticeable for the number and elegance of its ornaments, ranging in pretension from a costly silk banner to the tiny one cent flag. Under the superintendence of Mr. S. H. KNAPP, of the Mail and Newspaper Department, the rotunda has been decorated with bunting and placarded with the names of Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Meade, Humphreys, Warren, Farragut, Porter, &c., and presents a beautiful and artistic appearance. At the raising of a very elegant banner yesterday morning, Mr. BABCOCK gratified his fellow clerks with an address full of good points, and abounding in wit and humor. In the Box Room, where there are 7,000 boxes and 21,000 regular patrons, it seemed as if every box and every patron had sent in a representative flag, for this branch, like every other, was fairly red, white and blue with the star-spangled banner.

The rain fell heavily during the day and seemed determined to keep down the ebullition of natural exultation which every breast contained. Still the display of the national standard was a feature memorable and brilliant. Broadway, Printing House-square, the shipping, all the hotels, the public buildings, and the principle office and stores down town are glorious with the old flag, with the exception of the Daily News and Day Book, every newspaper building in the city ran up a broad banner, and hung it out for the recognition of the people; on the City Hall, over the Court-houses, high above the churches and in front of innumerable private dwellings floated the flag of victory, the emblem of successful contest and of coming peace.

of the official dispatches are not at first regarded closely. Sufficed it for the present that LEE had surrendered to GRANT upon the latter's own terms—that was the accepted fact, that caused sufficient superabundant joy. With a second reading of the matter came the American desire for details, and to many the details were a cause of dissatisfaction. With all the good-heartedness of our people, and dispite the recognized desire for peace and amity, and in spite of the nation's willingness to let by-gones be bygones, it was very evident that a large number of our citizens would have been better satisfied if GRANT had not allowed LEE and his men their parole. A parole was granted to 14,000 troops at Vicksburgh, and these 14,000 very soon found themselves in the rebel army, and if we heard it once it was repeated a hundred times, yesterday, "I'll bet these men will be back in the ranks in less than three weeks." Toward Gen. LEE there is no such feeling as is manifested toward DAVIS, MASON and the rest, but if that officer's fate is what the people of New-York indicated in their talk yesterday, he will spend the rest of his mortal life in a country where WASHINGTON never ruled, and where free government is not as popular as it is here.

Although the news was great and glorious, although it was exactly what the country wanted, its reception failed to excite the public pulse as did the fall of Richmond. It must, indeed, be a most startling achievement that can stimulate or exhilarate the American public beyond the bounds of the Richmond demonstration. This gratified our amour propre, it seemed the proper sequence to GRANT's magnificent performances, and it struck a most harmonious note in the triumphal strain of the campaign. Men, however, shook hands pleasantly, problematized as to the next move, wondered what would be done with LEE, discussed JEFF. DAVIS' probable and possible route d'enfer, opinionized concerning the President's expected proclamation, and pronounced GRANT, SHERMAN and SHERIDAN the military trinity of the country, to whom, under Providence, all glory and honor should be given for this most desired consummation. But it would have been a moral as well as a physical impossibility to initiate and keep up such an outpouring as was witnessed on Wall-street last week. That was a spontaneous gathering of men anxious to manifest the gratitude and thankfulness which their hearts could not contain, and having found a satisfactory vent for their surcharged breasts, no subsequent announcement could in so short a time so replenish their patriotic reservoir as would make a second ebullition practicable. In very many family circles deep and hearty thanksgiving prayer was offered to the Giver of all Good, because the dread possibilities of war were made less possible by this recent evidence of His love. One family whose paternal head was laid low a few months since, two members of which are in the Southern army, and of which the rest are loyal, public spirited citizens, joined most fervently in the universal acclaim, for now they can be reunited, who for four years have been separated, while death and war have made sad havoc among them. And this is doubtless a specimen of many. In the by direction, after a reading of the Scriptures and the customary prayer, the glorious news was read and explained, after which the joyous children were dismissed to fight the battles over with the attendants of similar institutions. Deep and solemn was the impression left upon many a young mind by the simple record of the day, for from the side of these scholars many a brave fellow had gone forth, some to fame, others to death, all to honor and to glory.

THE CANNON

loaned their brazen throats to the celebration of the day. On the top of the recruiting headquarters in the Park we noticed a squad of men who charged and fired the county volunteer committee gun one hundred times amid the cheers and huzzas of an enthusiastic crowd. From the foot of Montague-street, (Wall-street Ferry,) a cannon in the hands of an impromptu guard did like honor to the occasion, while in a score of places private celebrations in the gunpowder-line were vociferous and patriotic. At noontime, led by the silver bells of old Trinity, whose ever faithful flag floated silently at the head of Wall-street, the chimes broke upon the ear and harmonized with the unisonic prayer of the people. In the absence of any formal meeting, this mingling of sacred music with the roar and rush of Broadway, made a strange but pleasant number in the great Metropolitan chorus of praise and thanksgiving to the Most High.

AT THE CUSTOM-HOUSE

additional bunting was draped about the pillars and the desks, making the rotunda gay with the starry spangles, and suggestive of truest patriotism. In the office of the Collector many of our prominent officials and citizens met for the purpose of considering what had best be done. Among others we noticed Samuel Sloan, Judge Cole, Simeon Draper, B. F. Mudgett, Cyrus Curtiss, Abram Wakeman, Surveyor of the Port, and H. J. Wingate. The meeting was entirely informal, and was conducted on the conversational system. Hearty congratulations upon the glorious news naturally led to a recognition of the Divine Hand which had guided the country through its hour of peril, and to the suggestion that it behooved this great Christian community to celebrate the victory in the proper spirit, attributing the issue to the rightful and omnipotent source. It was the universal desire that all unnecessary parade should be dispensed with, and that every effort ought to be made to restore peace and harmony to the several sections of a common country. In consequence of this it was resolved that a request be sent to the officiating clergymen at Trinity Church, asking him to officiate in a special service yesterday afternoon. The paper was accordingly drawn up, and signed by the gentlemen present, and sent to the clergymen at the church, who replied that there was not time sufficient to enable them to substitute a proper service, but that they should be most happy to conform to the request to-day. It is therefore understood that will be sung at Trinity Church to-day at 1 o'clock, by a large and efficient choir, and an appropriate and peculiar service will be performed by Bishop POTTER and Rev. Drs. DIX, OGILBY, HAIGHT, WESTON, HIGBEE and others. The occasion promises to be most interesting, and the church will doubtless be crowded to excess.

After writing and reading a congratulatory address to Gov. FENTON, the gentlemen retired from the Collector's Office, having first signed, in common with many of their fellow-citizens, the following which is at the Custom-house for that purpose:

NEW-YORK, April 10, 1865.

To Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States:

SIR: We have the honor to transmit herewith an address, signed by influential citizens of New-York, asking that a day may be set apart for a National Thanksgiving to Almighty God, in recognition of his gracious goodness to us as a people, in protecting us through the perils of civil war, and giving us the promise of a happy future.

Copies of the address, with additional signatures, will be transmitted hereafter.

We offer our congratulations to the President on the auspicious events detailed in the dispatches of Lieut.-Gen. GRANT. With sentiments of the highest regard, your obedient servants,

SIMEON DRAPER, Chairman.

The other signatures follow that of Mr. DRAPER. At the customary gathering places of the several lines of trades other meetings were held. At the

Among the many scenes of interest was the

with a full load of passengers for the Fort Sumter celebration. The Fulton Ferry-boat Peconic took the passengers from Wall-street Ferry to the foot of Robinson-street, North River, where the beautiful propeller awaited them. The only persons of note in the list of passengers which we publish below, were Hon. ALFRED M. WOOD, Mayor of Brooklyn; CYRUS P. SMITH, President of the Fulton Ferry Company, and Rev. Messrs. CUYLER, FRENCH and PUTNAM. The steamer was crowded with passengers, who seemed, like Mark Tapley of old, to be jolly in proportion to the nastiness of the weather and the discomforts of the deck. A fine band is provided for the gala occasion, and the people, many of whom are attendants of Mr. BEECHER's church, will doubtless have a good time.

Just before the steamer left, Col. HOWARD, of the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth Colored Regiment, who had accompanied SHERMAN's army from Savannah, arrived direct from Goldsboro, eager to take the first vessel for Charleston, as he had important dispatches to take to the General in command at Charleston. Of course, a place was given him on board, and this was the only addition made to the list of passengers, except in cases where the places of absentees were filled by new applicants.

The cheering of the people on the steamer was responded to by their crowds of friends on the pier, and as the bell struck the hour of departure, three hearty huzzas were given for the army, the Generals and the victories.

MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—PATRIOTIC RESOLUTIONS.

The Chamber of Commerce held an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon. JONATHAN STURGES, Esq., in the chair.

On motion of Mr. GEORGE W. BLUNT, the regular business was suspended, and the following communication from the Common Council was read by the Secretary:

OFFICE OF CLERK OF COMMON COUNCIL, }
NEW-YORK, April 5, 1865. }

A. L. Low, Esq., President Chamber of Commerce:

DEAR SIR: The committee appointed by the Common Council of this city to make arrangements to celebrate the victories resulting in the capture of the rebel capital, respectfully request the coöperation of your Honorable Body in carrying out such arrangements, with a view to one grand and patriotic jubilee, in honor of the glorious successes achieved by the noble army of the Union under the guidance of its gallant leader. The undersigned will be pleased to confer with your body, by committee or otherwise, as may be deemed most advantageous. The committee will meet in the Chamber of the Board of Aldermen to-morrow, 6th inst., at 3 P. M.

I remain, very respectfully, yours, &c.,

ABRAHAM LENT,
Chairman Committee of Conference.

The following preamble and resolutions were then offered by ex-Mayor OPDYKE:

Whereas, The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New-York, together with the merchants of the city, did meet together on the 19th day of April, 1861, on the news being received of the outbreak of the rebellion, and solemnly pledged to the support of the Government, the vast resources of this commercial community, urging the instant blockade of the Southern ports at the cost of a large and prosperous commerce; and

Whereas, It has since, at each and every time, when the credit or the honor of the nation has been in danger, renewed to the Government its assurances of support; and

Whereas, It has always in times of national joy or national sorrow, taken occasion to give public expression to the feelings of the merchants of New-York; and

Whereas, The recent victories of the national arms, by land and sea, resulting in the captures of the cities of Savannah, Charleston, Wilmington, Petersburgh and Richmond, (and probably, ere this, of Mobile,) together with the repossession of the national fortresses of Sumter and Fisher, culminating in the surrender of the main army of the rebellion and its Commander, Gen. LEE, have now brought within view the end of this wicked rebellion against the national authority; therefore,

Resolved, That with reverence and thankfulness to Almighty God, "who hath given us the victory," this Chamber propose to unite with their fellow-citizens in celebrating the triumph of our arms, both on sea and land, which have restored the national unity, vindicated the right and power of the General Government, and shown to a doubting world that we have a country worthy of preservation, and which we are able and willing to preserve.

Resolved, That our thanks are tendered to the President of the United States, his official advisers, and the officers, soldiers and sailors of our army and navy, from Gen. GRANT to the smallest drummer-boy.

Resolved, That while rejoicing, we must not forget the afflicted who mourn for the loss of relatives and friends who have fallen dead or wounded in this great struggle for freedom and law, and we tender to them our most earnest sympathies, and that they may remember,

"That Freedom hallows in her tread
The silent cities of the dead,
And beautiful in death are they
Who proudly fall in her array."

Resolved, That the Chamber accepts the invitation of the city authorities to unite with them in a general demonstration of joy, and suggests that the celebration take place upon the 20th day of April, the day appointed by the Governor of the State for such ceremony.

Resolved, That a committee of seven, of which the President and Secretary shall be part, be appointed to act with the Committee of the Common Council, and such other committees of citizens as have been or may be appointed, with power to take measures to secure the participation of the Chamber in the proposed celebration.

The resolutions were adopted, and the following Committee appointed:

George Opdyke, Jonathan Sturges, F. A. Conklin, Elliot C. Cowdin, A. A. Low, David Ogden, C. R. Robert, John Austin Stevens.

The following resolutions, offered by Gen. HIRAM WALBRIDGE, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the capture of Richmond, and the surrender of Gen. LEE with the forces under his command, together with the complete demoralization that exists throughout the so-called Confederacy, renders the further prosecution of the war on the part of the rebels unprovoked murder on the land and undisguised piracy on the sea; and since we believe the rebellion has been prolonged during the last two years mainly by the recognition given it by the Continental Powers of Europe, this Chamber pledges to the General Government its continued and unbroken support whenever in its judgment it shall demand the revocation of the recognition of the rebels as belligerents by those Continental Powers; and we believe such a measure will receive the cordial approbation of the entire American people.

Resolved, That the thanks of the American people are due to the great masses in Europe who, since the origin of our unjustifiable rebellion, sympathized with the success of the constitutional cause, whose triumph is assured by the series of great events which have just taken place under the transcendant genius and skill of Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, and the patriotic coöperation of Gens. SHERMAN, SHERIDAN and others under his command; and we assure them that the United States, in the future as in the past, will furnish a home and afford protection to all who recognize constitutional representative government as the best organization known among men for the promotion of individual, civil, religious and political liberty.

The Chamber then adjourned until Saturday next, at 1 P. M.

MEETING OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE COMMON COUNCIL — A GENERAL ILLUMINATION PROPOSED—NO PARADE AND NO FIREWORKS.

The Joint Committee of the Common Council on the celebration of our victories, held an adjourned meeting at 3 P. M. yesterday, Councilman GREEN in the chair.

Deputations were present from all the public bodies that had been invited to coöperate with the committee. The Chamber of Commerce was represented by Messrs. George Opdyke, John A. Stevens, Jr., F. A. Conklin, E. C. Cowdin and David Ogden; the citizens committee by Mr. Geo. W. Blunt and Mr. Conklin, and the Board of Supervisors by Messrs. Davis and Roche.

Mr. OPDYKE said that the committee of which he was a member had not yet had time to confer, but the Chamber of Commerce were in favor, as would be seen by the resolutions adopted, of celebrating our victories on the 20th instant, and he would like to know what action, if any, the Joint Committee had decided on.

The Chairman said they had not decided on anything at present.

The resolutions, adopted some time ago by the Common Council appointing a committee to make preparations to celebrate our victories were then read, and Mr. FARLEY moved that a committee of one be appointed to wait on the Mayor and ascertain whether he intended to sign the resolutions. The motion was adopted, but it was announced that the Mayor was not in town.

Councilman LENT said it was of no consequence whether the Mayor signed the resolution or not. Our citizens are determined to celebrate the late victories, and they would be celebrated, whatever action the Mayor might take in the matter.

Mr. E. C. COWDIN said he had formed one of the committee who waited on the Mayor in relation to celebrating the fall of Charleston, and he had been informed courteously, but decidedly, that the Mayor disapproved of the whole matter. He had found Mr. W. M. TWEED, Mr. CORNELL, Mr. TAYLOR and other Democrats quite willing to coöperate, and they had rendered valuable assistance in getting up the last celebration.

Councilman LENT moved that all citizens be requested to illuminate their houses on the 20th inst., that the public buildings be then illuminated, and that the pastors of the several churches be requested to take up collections for the benefit of the sick and wounded soldiers.

Mr. GEO. W. BLUNT said that the Citizens' Committee, of which he was a member, would, he was sure, concur in Mr. LENT's proposition.

Supervisor Davis said his opinion was that it would be impolitic to have any procession on this occasion. A military parade might be got up, but he thought we could do very well without it, especially as the city militia had been heavily taxed lately.

Mr. LENT's motion was then adopted.

Alderman FARLEY moved that a committee of two from each organization be appointed to report a suitable method of celebrating our victories.

The motion was adopted.

Councilman LENT said he would suggest that instead of an exhibition of fireworks, the money which would be appropriated for that purpose, should be expended in giving the sick and wounded soldiers at the various depots a good dinner on the 20th inst.

The Chairman then appointed the following committee to report a suitable manner of celebrating our victories: Mr. E. C. Cowdin, Mr. John Austin Stevens, Jr., Mr. A. T. Stewart, Mr. Hamilton Fish, Aldermen Farley and Norton, and Councilmen Staoom and Brady. The Chairman was added to the committee.

The committee then adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

MEETING AT THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

At the close of the regular business hours at the Produce Exchange, yesterday, the merchants assembled to give formal expression to their patriotic feelings and sentiments, in view of the glorious news from the grand old Army of the Potomac. Mr. GEO. D. CRAGIN, President of the Commercial Association, standing on an improvised platform, and beneath a splendid national banner, called the meeting to order. The meeting promptly responded to the call, as far as it was practicable so to do, controlled as it was by such exciting influences. Everybody seemed to outvie everybody else in enthusiastic demonstrations of patriotic pride and satisfaction. The cheering was immense. After the first storm of applause had subsided, Mr. EDWARD CROMWELL proposed a list of officers, which was adopted, as follows: President, Mr. GEORGE D. CRAGIN; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. David Dows, Jesse Hoyt, Lewis Roberts, Josiah M. Fiske, Henry W. Smith, E. W. Coleman, Robert P. Getty, James H. Holcomb, Francis M. French, E. H. Tompkins, John S. Williams, William H. Swan, J. Hobart Herrick, Hiram Walbridge, Ezra Nye. Secretaries, Messrs. Henry Hill, Fredk. Sherwood.

Very appropriate addresses were made by Gen. Hiram Walbridge, and Messrs. James P. Wallace, Henry Hill, Silas B. Dutcher, Henry W. Smith, R. P. Getty and others. Cheers were called for all our national leaders, civil and military, and were given with overwhelming earnestness. All united in fervent thanks to God for the signal favors conferred on our republic.

The hymn commencing "Praise God from whom all Blessings Flow," was chaunted with becoming solemnity. Resolutions, prepared by Mr. JAMES P. WALLACE, and seconded by the whole meeting in reiterated rounds of applause, were adopted unanimously, amidst vociferous cheering. The resolutions were as follows:

Resolved, That we render hearty thanks to Almighty God for the signal success He has vouchsafed to our arms, and that we recognize His hand, and His kind providence, in bringing this nation so near to a triumphant end of this mighty contest for freedom and good government.

Resolved, That we render thanks to President LINCOLN, and all the officers and agents of the Government, for the signal ability they have shown in conducting the affairs of the nation during the past four years of unexampled trial.

Resolved, That we render thanks to Lieut.-Gen. GRANT and the many valient and true officers and men of the army and navy, for the able and successful manner in which they have conducted the war, and more especially the late campaign.

Resolved, That we highly honor the illustrious dead, and seriously sympathize with the sufferings and trials of the valiant men and their families, brought on by the war, and that we will cheerfully do our part to relieve the survivors in all their wants.

Resolved, That we congratulate each other on the events of the day, and pledge to each other and to the nation that we will ever stand fast by our glorious Union.

Resolved, That we hold out the olive branch to our erring and misguided brethren of the Southern States, and pledge to all of them who are loyal a hearty welcome to all the benefits of our free republic.

Resolved, That the government which has brought this unjustifiable rebellion to a triumphant close, is adequate to the emergency. We leave the terms of the final adjustment of the rebels to that government, in the confident belief that they will be in accordance with the best interests of all the people of the United States.

Cheers were given for THOMAS and CANBY, and other patriot soldiers of Southern birth, who had nobly sacrificed all personal feeling and family pride, and steadfastly adhered to in the country.

A supplementary resolution was read and unanimously adopted by the merchants, to the following purport:

Resolved, That in this hour of exultation we gratefully remember the patriotic services of an illustrious Virginian, who has ever faithfully upheld our government, ever nobly defended its honor; we remember with just pride the illustrious WINFIELD SCOTT, the hero of three wars, and the honored father of the glorious Army of the United States.

The meeting soon after adjourned.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

At the opening of the Court this morning, Judge Beebe rose and addressed the Court as follows: May it please the Court, since the adjournment of this Court on Saturday, events have transpired to which it seems to me proper that some public reference should be made, For four years this people have been engaged in a struggle for national life—a struggle carried on sometimes in victory, sometimes in defeat—a struggle more ponderous in its character and more important in its results than history has known. And in its progress, out of despondency has come hope, and out of hope has come fruition, and now by the surrender of Gen. Lee and the army of Northern Virginia, that fruition has become a certainty, and our national existence is established as a fact, never more to be disputed; and in this final and crowning issue, I speak I think, the sentiments of all the members of the Bar, in saying that something should stand on the records of this court, in commemoration of this event; that when some antiquarian in long days hereafter shall be going over the musty records of this court, he shall find in them positive evidence that this court and this Bar remained always true to the cause of loyalty and liberty and rejoiced in its success. I move, Sir, the adoption and entry upon the minutes of the court of the following preamble and resolution which I will read.

Whereas, a period has arrived in the history of our national struggle, for the maintenance of our unity, the constitution and the laws, when the rebellion has, through the blessing of Divine Providence and the skill, bravery and determination of the government, its officers and soldiers, received its crushing and final blow; and,

Whereas, In order that the court and members of the bar present may, in some degree, express their appreciation of these important events, and the government having recommended that whenever the news shall be received, the day shall be kept as a day of rejoicing,

Resolved, That this court do now adjourn until to-morrow morning at 11 A. M., and that this preamble and resolution be entered upon the minutes of the court.

Mr. E. C. Benedict, rising, said: It seems to me eminently fit and proper that such a movement should proceed from this court, even if it went no further. There may be reasons which will prevent some of the other courts in this city, which do not influence this court, although I believe that all of them will act in harmony with the action of this court. But it is most proper that this movement should proceed from this court, which has always maintained and enforced those rules and principles of national life which have been the sustaining power of the government. This court has proceeded calmly in their enforcement, without change of its rolls, or its rules, whenever that enforcement became necessary, no matter how great, or how strong, or how important the subject affected by that enforcement. I think it is most proper that this Court should adjourn. On such a day anywhere throughout the land, while the flags are floating in the air, while the echoes of two hundred guns and the sounds of rejoicing are coming on the air, it would be unbecoming for any Court of the United States to be calling up witnesses, sitting here upon hard benches, waiting to be examined as to some controversy of every-day lifetime, and such a motion is eminently proper in this Court presided over by a judge, who though of larger previous experience in civil admiralty causes than any judge who has ever lived, will be found to have added largely to his reputation, by the decisions which this Court has been called upon to make during the last four years on questions of prize laws and national law which have been brought before it.

The prospects have not always been as clear for us as now. Many have said that we should fail; that the people would grow weary of the war and its sacrifices and burdens. It has not so proved. From the time when the Old World aristocratic governments said "the Great Republic is no more"—with every year we have grown stronger and more able to bear them—every year has made it easier to go on—every new loan has been more freely taken—and so we should have gone on if necessary to the crack of doom. But from the beginning to the end—from the day when we had but seventy-five thousand men in the field to this day of final triumph—this Court has been unfaltering in its administration of the same great principles, whose success we all this day rejoice over. And in seconding the motion that the resolution and preamble be entered on the minutes of the court, I have desired to allude to the fact of this position of the Court, as making the motion one in every way proper.

There being no further remarks, the Judge said that he heartily concurred in the wishes of the Bar, and without further words requested the members of the Bar present, who were in favor of the motion, to say aye. A unanimous "aye" was given, and the court adjourned.

MEETINGS OF STUDENTS AT NEW-YORK UNIVERSITY AND COLUMBIA COLLEGE.

At the conclusion of the regular morning prayers in the chapel of the University, Chancellor FERRIS made some congratulatory remarks on our recent victories, and was followed by Profs. MARTIN, BAIRD and COAKLEY. The students then sang "America" and the "Doxology," and adjourned to hold a meeting of their own in the large chapel of the University.

The students of Columbia College were addressed at the conclusion of morning prayers by President BARNARD and Prof. PECK, and then, forming in line, marched to the headquarters of the Union League, where they were addressed by Mr. JOHN JAY. At the conclusion of Mr. JAY's remarks, they proceeded to the New-York University, and joined the University members in enthusiastic cheers for LINCOLN, GRANT and victory. A meeting was speedily organized in the University chapel by the election of Mr. W. F. MORGAN as President, and Mr. W. N. MCVICKARS, of Columbia College, as Vice-President. Messrs. DAVID HOPKINS, of the University, and WILLIAM WARD, of Columbia, were appointed Secretaries.

Mr. MORGAN, on taking the chair, made a few brief and stirringly patriotic remarks, and introduced Prof. MARTIN, who was followed by Chancellor FERRIS, both giving the young men good advice, and expressing their sympathy in the rejoicings of the day.

Eloquent speeches, full of vim, wit and enthusiasm, were made by Mr. MCVICKARS, of the Senior Class, and Mr. PUTNAM SMITH, of the Junior Class, Columbia College, and Mr. BENJAMIN H. BAYLISS, of the Senior Class, of the University. The best wishes of each college for the other, and desire for closer friendship in the future were expressed by Messrs. MCVICKARS and BAYLISS.

A committee was appointed who drafted the following resolutions:

Whereas, The armies of the republic have, by the blessing of God, triumphed over the foes of the Union, the constitution and the laws; and

Whereas, In the capture of Richmond and the surrender of Gen. LEE, we see the end of the rebellion and the restoration of the unity of this great people; therefore

Resolved, That the students of Columbia College and the New-York University, while acknowledging the goodness of Almighty God in restoring peace to our beloved country, do at the same time most heartily thank our brave soldiers as the means under His guidance of breaking down the last bulwark of this wicked rebellion.

Resolved, That while remembering with grateful admiration the deeds of the heroic living, the memory of the patriotic dead will always remain enshrined in our hearts.

W. F. Morgan, Chairman; S. Van Nostrand, J. C. Gray, F. Prime, Jr., B. H. Bayliss, Committee.

THE SPIRIT OF FORGIVENESS.

NEW-YORK, Monday, April 10.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR.—Now that Gen. LEE has surrendered, I would suggest he be sent to New-York city, where he will receive such an ovation as will bring tears to his eyes, in regret that he should ever have taken up arms against a people who would receive him with so much emotion, tender respect, and forgiveness.

Respectfully, J. K.

PRIVATE REJOICINGS.

The employes of BREWSTER & Co.'s carriage manufactory, in Broome-street, fired one hundred guns in honor of the surrender of Gen. LEE.

DEMONSTRATION IN JERSEY CITY LAST NIGHT.

The Mayor of Jersey City issued the following proclamation:

The question of "self-government" is settled forever. The glorious old Union is already restored, and peace and prosperity are already within our grasp. God be praised!

Our citizens are requested to illuminate private and public buildings to-night, in honor of the glorious news received this morning.

ORESTES CLEVELAND, Mayor.

MONDAY, April 10, 1865.

In accordance with the above recommendation, the public and private buildings were very generally illuminated last evening, many of them presenting a brilliant and attractive appearance, by means of Chinese lanterns, flags, &c. The City Hall and Police Headquarters presented the most brilliant appearance of all, being lighted with a candle to each pane of glass, and also decorated with innumerable small flags. Bells were rung, salutes were fired, small arms discharged, bonfires kindled and fireworks set off in all parts of the city. Notwithstanding the evening was unfavorable, the streets were thronged by many thousands of people, and in every respect the demonstration was a complete success.

REJOICINGS ELSEWHERE.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 10.

THE ENTHUSIASM IN WASHINGTON.

The severe and almost uninterrupted rain storm of the last twenty-four hours has not, apparently, very materially chilled the ardor, nor dampened the enthusiasm of anybody in Washington, and the celebration of victory which begun everywhere in the city with Mr. STANTON's magnificent day-break salute, has been continued all day, and bids fair to continue all night. Thus far it is more imposing and hardly less enthusiastic than that of last Monday.

Willard's Hotel and a few other buildings are illuminated this evening, but the general illumination is put off till to-morrow.

A remarkable instance of the liability of human nature to err in its judgments is found in the fact that, of the thousands of men and women residing here whom everybody has supposed for four years to be arrant Secessionists, every soul of them now declares that he has always been a good Unionist, and never believed the rebellion could or should succeed.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 10.

The intelligence of Gen. LEE's surrender was last night known to only a few persons; but this morning, when the news was generally circulated through the newspapers, scenes of joyous excitement, such as prevailed here last Monday, were everywhere renewed.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. FIELD, gave a holiday to the clerks of that department, and they immediately started in procession to the President's house, in front of which they sung the "Star-spangled Banner" and "Old Hundred" with electric effect, and then passed on to the War Department, shouting the stirring words and air, "Rally round the flag, boys," &c.

The Secretary of War having been called for, after repeated and urgent demands, appeared before the enthusiastic crowd that thronged the halls and stairways of the War Department building. He was received with cheering, but asked to be excused on account of his health from making any remarks. He, however, begged to introduce Maj.-Gen. HALLECK.

The General was received with hearty cheering, and, although evidently surprised by the strategy of the honorable Secretary, addressed the throng as follows:

"Always ready, as I am, to obey the orders of my superior officer, the honorable Secretary of War, I hardly think he will go so far as to require me to become a stump-speaker. [Laughter, cheers, and cries of 'The people require it;' 'It is a military necessity,' &c.] Stump-speaking, my friends, is something in which I have never indulged. I can only say that our congratulations and thanks are due to Gen. GRANT, and the brave Generals and soldiers in the field, for the great victory announced this morning, and for the blessing of peace of which it is the harbinger."

His Honor Mayor WALLACK was discovered in the crowd, and being loudly called for, replied in a few appropriate words, saying that his heart was too full for utterance, and that he was gratified to observe from their bright looks and happy faces, that they felt as he felt on such an occasion.

The workmen of the Navy-yard, some 1,500 or 2,000 of them, formed in procession, headed by a band of music, and marched up to the city, firing repeatedly a howitzer, and occasionally huzzahing. The line was increased by persons falling in on the way. Their design was to congratulate the President, who last night returned from Richmond. Thousands assembled in front of the Executive mansion. The bands played, and many in the crowd sang in unison with the music. Cannon were fired, and repeated calls were made for the President. When he appeared at the window over the entrance door he was greeted with huzzas, clapping of hands, and waving of hats. He appeared to be calm amid these wild demonstrations before him. Comparative silence having been restored, he said:

"I am very greatly rejoiced that an occasion has occurred so pleasurable that the people can't restrain themselves. [Cheers.] I suppose that arrangements are being made for some sort of formal demonstration, perhaps this evening or to-morrow night. [Voices, "We can't wait."] If there should be such a demonstration, I, of course, will have to respond to it, [A voice, "Bully for you,"] and I will have nothing to say, if you dribble it out of me. [Laughter and cries of "We want to hear you now."] I see you have a band. [Voices, "We have three of them."] I propose now closing up by requesting you to play a certain piece of music or a tune. I thought "Dixie" one of the best tunes I ever heard." [Laughter.]

The band began to play "Dixie," but soon ceased, as the President had not concluded his remarks. He continued:

"I had heard that our adversaries over the way had attempted to appropriate it. I insisted yesterday that we had fairly captured it. [Cheers and laughter.] I presented the question to the Attorney-General, and he gave his opinion that it is our lawful prize. I ask the band to give us a good turn upon it?"

The band accordingly played "Dixie" with extraordinary vigor, when three cheers and a tiger were given, followed by the tune of "Yankee Doodle."

The President then proposed three rousing cheers for GRANT and all under his command, and next, three cheers for the navy and all its forces. They were most enthusiastically given.

The President retired amid huzzas, the tune of "Hail Columbia" and the firing of cannon.

The crowd then proceeded to the War Department, and various tunes were played. The Secretary was repeatedly called for, but did not appear.

The immense concourse of persons then separated.

The steam fire-engines were out, decorated with flags, and screamed their joy along Pennsylvania-avenue.

There was a salute of five hundred guns at daylight, and ringing of bells and firing from all the fortifications.

BRIDGEPORT, Monday, April 10.

The heart of Bridgeport is moved by the glorious news of this morning. All the churches are illuminated to-night, and divine service of an hour in each attests the religious tone of our rejoicing. Multitudes are marching through the streets in a torchlight procession, attended by the Fort Trumbull band. The post-offices and all other public buildings, the great manufactories, and every principal dwelling-house from East Bridgeport on the east to Barnum's villa on the west are covered with Union banners and sparkling with lights. One hundred and fifty guns and all the bells in the city are sounding the triumph of the Union army, and rockets and fireworks in every shape are blazing in the air. All feel that the great day of jubilee is at hand, and anxiously await the hour when from one extreme of the land to the other we can join the angelic anthem, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace, good will to men."

To-day has been entirely given up to rejoicing. In the Legislature, Speaker BULLOCK and others made eloquent and appropriate remarks, after which both houses adjourned. The Supreme Court also adjourned. A great meeting of merchants was held in Franklin-street, and another similar meeting was held in Winthrop-place. Among the speakers were Hon. George S. Boutwell, Samuel H. Walley, Richard H. Dane, William Gray and George S. Hilliard. A severe northeast rain-storm which commenced at noon somewhat interfered with the general street programme. But the military and civic processions were very imposing. The firemen especially, with their engines, whose steam-whistles were screaming in chorus, created a novel sensation. A meeting in the Old South Church was addressed by several of our most eloquent clergymen, while a salute was fired from the belfry of that ancient meeting-house.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

[OFFICIAL.]

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

STATED SESSION—Monday, April 10, 1865, 2 o'clock P. M.

The Board met, pursuant to adjournment.

Present—Morgan Jones, Esq., President, Aldermen Moore, Morton, Flynn, Gedney, McKnight, Jeremiah, Brice, Ottiwell, O'Brien, Farley, Van Voorhis.

On motion of Alderman Farley, the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.

Whereupon he presented the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, The glorious successes of the invincible Army of the Potomac, which have culminated in the capture of Richmond, the surrender of the rebel Army of Northern Virginia, and of General Robert E. Lee, Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the so-called Confederate States, must inevitably be the precursor of peace, as the rebel army, under the immediate command of General Lee, was for the past year the main stay and prop of the sinking fortunes of the Southern rebellion; and

Whereas, These successes, following so closely upon the successes of Sherman and of Terry, in Georgia, North and South Carolina, which resulted in the capture of all the seaports in the rebellious States, must certainly obviate the necessity of enforcing the provisions of an obnoxious conscription act, in this city, at the time when it is the confident hope and fervent wish of the people of the loyal States, founded upon the triumphs of our armies, that a lasting and honorable peace, and a restored Union will be the gratifying result secured to the people of the city by the valor of our armies; and

Whereas, It is universally conceded that conscripts do not make as good or efficient soldiers as those who voluntarily assume service in the army; that men forced from their homes, leaving them unprovided and uncared for, their wives and children, their business and hopes for the future, do not enlist their hearts in the service of the country equally with those who have not these ties to bind them to their homes, to which they are involuntarily subjected; and inasmuch as there can be no question of the ability of this city to meet the demands of the General Government for men, at the present time and for all time to come, as it has invariably done in the past, were sufficient time allowed for the purpose; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That His Excellency Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, be earnestly yet respectfully requested, on behalf of the citizens of this city, to defer for a period of sixty or ninety days the enforcement of the provisions of the Conscription Act, as we have an abiding faith that if such postponement be granted they will fill all demands made upon them, by men who will voluntarily serve in the armies of the Union.

Which was adopted.

In connection with the above,

Alderman Farley moved that a committee of three members from the board, to consist of the President and Aldermen Jeremiah and Ryers, be appointed to proceed to Washington and present the memorial to His Excellency the President of the United States.

By Alderman Flynn—

Resolved, That the Counsel to the Corporation be and he is hereby ordered and directed to communicate his opinion to this Board on the following points:

1. Do you regard the Charter of the City of New-York as being in the nature of a contract between the supreme power of the State (the grantors) and the people of the City of New-York (the grantees)?

2. Do you regard the several grants of power, as conveyed by the several supreme Governors of the State, and embodied in the Charter of the City of New-York, as it existed at the time of the revolution and as such was confirmed by the constitutions of the years one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two and one thousand eight hundred and forty, as being subject to repeal, alteration or other modification by the Legislature, without the consent of the electors of the City of New-York?

3. Do you regard changes made in the Charter of this city by the Legislature in the manner of amendment or repeal, without submitting such action to the electors of this city for ratification or rejection, as constitutional?

4. Do you regard the various enactments, entitled acts "to amend," "relating" and "relative" to the Charter of the City of New-York, passed, respectively, April 14, 1857, April 15, 1861, and April 3, 1863, as constitutional, so far as they deprive the corporation of power over the property, real and personal, of the City of New-York; and, so far as the Legislature has assumed the power to elect or appoint, or continue the time of service of those holding office under the city charter?

5. Do you regard the Act entitled "An Act relating to the Board of Supervisors of the County of New-York," passed April 15, 1857, as constitutional, so far as to restrain the Electors of the County to the election of one of the candidates for two officers when two officers are to be chosen, and conferring the power to choose the other of the two officers upon a partisan body not known to the constitution or laws?

6. Do you regard the act, entitled "An Act to create a Metropolitan Fire District and establish a Fire Department therein," as constitutional, so far as it authorizes commissioners, who are appointed by the Governor and Senate, to take possession and dispose of the moneys and other property, real and personal, belonging to the Corporation of the City of New-York?

7. Do you regard the term of "election," as recited in Article ten, section two of the constitution, as embracing any other than a choice, by the electors, of an officer from amongst all the candidates for the same office?

8. Do you regard the terms "appoint," "appointed," and "appointment" as embracing any other than a choice of an officer, by such authorities as were elected, or were constituted by such as were so elected as in the foregoing sections recited?

9. Do you regard the term "authorities" as embracing any other than those officers who have been chosen by the electors, by a majority or other highest number of votes, and where the electors are permitted to vote for each officer, and those who are appointed by such as were so elected?

10. Do you regard the qualifying of an officer for office to embrace election or appointment, or either? If elected, should the electors have the privilege to vote; and, if appointed, should the authorities have the privilege to choose from all who are eligible?

11. Do you regard the manner of qualifying a candidate for Supervisor, who has been rejected by the electors, as being by act of election or appointment? And, if appointed, is not the faction or party who nominates the appointing power?

Is the Mayor at liberty to exercise free will, under the law which requires that he qualify any rejected candidate for the office of Supervisor?

13. Do you regard as constitutional the exercise of power by the Legislature, to appoint or to extend the time of service of a subordinate officer of the corporation, or of the County of New-York; and, also, is the transfer of the power to appoint to a faction or party by the Legislature constitutional?

Which was referred to Committee on Law.

MEDICAL.

ATONIC WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Dyspeptics and those suffering from Chronic Diseases, read the following:

Pittston, Luzerne County, Penn.,
April 5, 1865.

My Dear Sir: Having at various times, personally, and in my own and other families, tested the great value of the medicine called "Peruvian Syrup," or "Protected Solution of Protoxide of Iron," I most cheerfully recommend it, especially to those who are suffering from dyspeptic and nervous disorders. As a reliable and powerful alterative, it is, I think, unsurpassed. And as a tonic, free from all the objectionable features of alcoholic remedies, it is a most efficient auxiliary to the temperance cause. One of the greatest hindrances to the temperance reform at present is, as I think, the medical use of alcoholic stimulants. Whatever may be argued as to their necessity in certain cases, we have, in the "Peruvian Syrup," a safe and efficient substitute for those dangerous remedies. This testimony is given, unsolicited, with the hope that some who are not yet acquainted with the valuable properties of the medicine may be induced to give it a trial.

Yours truly, JOHN GREGORY,
Pastor of Wesleyan Methodist Church.

The PERUVIAN SYRUP is a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron, which vitalizes, purifies and enriches the blood. Pamphlets free. Sold by all druggists. J. P. DINSMORE, No. 491 Broadway, N.Y.

THOUSANDS ARE TIMELY SAVED BY Dr. WARD'S skillful and improved treatment.—Private diseases cured in the shortest possible time by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 61 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edingburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

If any one had looked yesterday to see our people go into extravagant demonstrations over the surrender of the rebel army—which is the surrender of the rebellion itself—he is by this time undeceived. Had we not been fully aware of the deep and solemn earnestness of the loyal heart, we should indeed wonder at what might almost be characterized as indifference. But still waters run deep. Four years of trial such as no nation on the earth has lived through; four years of unequalled financial pressure; of mental and physical tension, to the top of our bent; of armies till now unknown in history for numbers, for courage, for endurance, for achievement; four years of wrestling with a foe of our own blood and birth, a foe howsoever grievously at fault still "worthy of our steel;" four years in which no sun has set that did not pale its fire over newly bereaved hearth-stones, and rekindle its morning rays amid the tears of widows and orphans; four such years have sobered and chastened our hearts to feelings more in accordance with our sufferings and our hopes than could be expressed in any wild bacchanalian revelry.

The great fact that the struggle was over was accepted here in New-York, we may say, almost in silence. True, there were cannons fired and bells rung, but they were mere incidents; the real rejoicing was found in the elastic steps, the manly looks, the cordial greetings of friends whose hearts had been long bowed down in doubt and anxiety, whose feet had followed loved ones to untimely graves, whose eyes had gazed in tremulous fear upon our glorious flag, lest its stars had been scattered never more to reunite in their splendid constellation. With such feelings predominent in nearly all hearts that love our land, we can readily understand how it came to pass that no wild excitement marked the day. Yet it was grandly celebrated; it was a holy day in the home and in the heart; it was a day marked by silent but fervent prayer and thanksgiving to the Providence whose loving care has guided us through sorrow and suffering and death to a victory, the importance of which we who are actors therein cannot possibly comprehend.

The Memphis Bulletin has a report that our grand cavalry expedition, now moving through Albama, has captured and burned the town of Selma. This place is in Dallas County, on the right bank of the Alabama River, about 70 miles below Montgomery. It is the Southern terminus of the Alabama and Tennessee Railroad. The Central Railroad of Alabama extends West from here. Selma is surrounded by a rich and populous district, and had an active business before the war. Its population was about 3,000.

Gen. STEELE, commanding the Thirteenth Army Corps, which participates in the movement against Mobile, reports up to the 30th ult., that he had met with decided success, having captured the rebel Gen. CLANTON, who was mortally wounded, taken 250 prisoners, captured two railroad trains, and torn up much off the tracks. Gen. STEELE started from Pensacola.

Admiral PORTER reports that the rebels blew up the following vessels in the James: Virginia, flag-ship, with 4 guns; iron-clad Richmond, 4 guns; iron-clad Fredericksburgh, 4 guns; iron-clad Nansemond, 2 guns; wooden ship Hampton, 2 guns; wooden ship Roanoke, 1 gun; and the wooden torpedo-tender Sherapnel, Patrick Henry, school ship.

It is reported that the rebels have abandoned Raleigh, the capital of North Carolina. Deserters state that there is no rebel force of any account between Goldsboro and Raleigh; that the enemy were throwing up works on the line of the Tar River, at Rocky Mount, which is forty miles from Goldsboro, in the direction of Weldon, on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad.

A paper at Paducah, Ky., has a report that WILSON's cavalry has completely routed FORREST's forces near Tuscaloosa, Ala. The story wants confirmation, but it is very probably true. FORREST long since ceased to be formidable, his men having been taken away to help JOHNSTON in North Carolina.

Military affairs at Wilmington, N. C., are quiet and the city is resuming its business-like aspect. The stores are being reopened, and everything indicates a speedy return to the former homes of those who fled at the approach of our troops. Every steamer from the South brings a number of refugees.

Refugees from Danville, as late as Wednesday, state positively that STONEMAN's column, which was last heard from at Boone, Watauga County, N. C., reached the Danville road on Tuesday last, and commenced tearing up the new track between Danville and Greensboro.

It is reported, on not very satisfactory authority, that JEFF. DAVIS, with one or two members of his Cabinet, was at Danville on Monday afternoon of last week. If so, he has probably escaped through the mountains of North Carolina, or hidden in some safe place.

Among the war material captured last week by SHERIDAN were five guns of the Armstrong pattern, said to have been a present from the English Government to the Confederates, and had not yet been used. They are beautiful specimens of manufacture.

It is said the Ex-Senator R. M. T. HUNTER, President pro tem. of the late rebel Senate, has been granted permission to go and come from Richmond at his pleasure. This is supposed to be indicative of important peace negotiations.

The statement of a meeting of members of the Virginia Legislature, with a view to reconstruction, was erroneous. An informal conference of citizens was held, but none of the members of the Legislature were there in official capacity.

The rebels who captured the steamer Harriet Deford, last week, have burned her, not being able to get her away from our Potomac fleet.

No lives were lost by the sinking of the Milwaukee, in Mobile bay, by a torpedo. She is not much damaged, and it is proposed to get her up at once.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In Senate yesterday resolutions were proposed pertinent to the great event of LEE's surrender. They were referred to a committee in consequence of FIELD's objection to the word "slaveholders." The New-York Fire Department Fund bill and the Pay Side Ferry Company bill were reported. The following bills were passed: The Third-street Brooklyn Improvement bill; to close a portion of One Hundred and Thirty-ninth-street, New-York; ratifying the amendment to the Constitution prohibiting slavery; incorporating the National Turkish Bath Company; providing for the registration of deaths in the several towns and wards in the State; incorporating the New-York Sub-aqueous Metalic Dock and Warehouse Company; incorporating the North American and Italian Steamship Company; authorizing the extension of the track of the Third-avenue Railroad.

In the Assembly, the Harlem Bridge Bill was reported, and the following bills were passed: The New-York City Bounty and Bonds Bill; to incorporate the City of Newburgh; relating to false certificate of deaths in New-York. Mr. GLEASON offered resolutions returning thanks to Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, his officers and soldiers for the overthrow of the military power of the rebellion, &c. Objections were made to the consideration of the resolutions, and they were laid over.

GENERAL NEWS.

GRANT's victory was fitly indorsed yesterday by the voters of Hartford, Conn. That city has for years indulged in the bad habit of giving Democratic majorities. Last week, however, things took a turn; the dissolving view of JEFF. DAVIS' Confederacy was the signal for a change of base on the part of the Hartfordites; they astonished themselves and everybody else by giving 248 Republican majority. That was great; but yesterday, at the Charter election, the Democracy followed LEE's example and surrendered, the Union majority being 422 on the highest candidate. That was glorious.

The ship Black Prince, from San Francisco for Boston, was undoubtedly lost about the middle of February off the Carolina coast. On the 15th, when spoken, she was leaking badly; she was supplied with provisions, the Captain declining to leave her, as he believed he could reach port. She has not since been heard from, and as the vessel that spoke her encountered a severe gale the next day, her fate is scarcely doubtful.

There was a partial eclipse of the moon last night, but so small that at the greatest obscuration not one fifth of the moon's disc was in the earth's shadow. The eclipse began at 10:49 and ended at 12:35 o'clock. As the sky was overcast and the obscuration not enough to affect the moonlight, we presume no one knew of the event save almanac-makers.

A letter from Gen. GARFIELD to a friend in New-Orleans, dated March 15, says: "I hope the Union men of Louisiana will not be discouraged because their Representatives were not admitted to seats in the Senate and House. The Committee on Elections was favorable for them, but there was not time to discuss the matter."

The Missouri State Convention has adjourned. The new Constitution was passed yesterday by 38 to 13; it is to be voted upon by the people on the 6th of June, and if ratified will go into effect on the 4th of July. The soldiers will vote upon it in camp.

The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution have decided to rebuild these portions of the building destroyed by fire, and to make them fire-proof, at a cost of $120,000, which will be paid from the surplus fund of the institution.

The National Intelligencer is of the opinion that the President will speedily issue a proclamation to the misguided people of the South, which will be temperate and magnanimous, and in the spirit of GRANT's terms to LEE.

NATHANIEL B. BORDEN, a prominent citizen of Fall River, Mass., and for a long time Superintendent of the New-York and Boston line of steamers, died yesterday at Fall River.

All the St. Albans raiders, except YOUNG, have been released from custody by the court at Toronto. YOUNG is held for trial.

LOCAL NEWS.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, ABRAHAM RICKS pleaded guilty to an assault with a deadly weapon, and was sent to the States prison for five years. HENRY LANGWORTH was tried and convicted of grand larceny, and sent to the States prison for three years and six months. MARY O'BRIEN, also convicted of grand larceny, was sent to the States prison for two years and six months. WILLIAM SMITH, who was indicted for murder of a sailor named LAWRENCE, in a drunken quarrel, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree and was remanded for sentence. The Court adjourned until this morning, at 11 o'clock.

In answer to a letter from the Chairman of the Twenty-second Ward Draft Relief Committee, Provost-Marshal DODGE states that New-York City will be positively required to fill her quota under the last call, and that so soon as any Assistant Provost-Marshal finds himself not fully occupied in receiving recruits, the draft will be resumed. Maj. DODGE concludes by saying that the sooner the people make up their minds that the men must be furnished, the better for all concerned.

The number of deaths occurring in this city during the past week was 465—106 men, 82 women, 156 boys and 121 girls—being a decrease of 4 from the number recorded in the previous week, and of 7 as compared with the corresponding week of last year The mortality from the principal diseases was as follows: Consumption 82, diptheria 17, convulsions, 37, croup 16, scarlet fever 19, typhus fever 18, inflammation of the lungs 31, small pox 19.

A verdict of $3,000 was rendered yesterday in the Superior Court, before Judge GARVIN, against the Second-avenue Railroad Company, for injuries received by Mrs. ANN BAXTER, on the 6th of January last, in consequence of one of the cars of the company having run over her at the corner of Thirty-first-street and Second-avenue.

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday, a committee of five members was appointed to proceed to Washington and endeavor to have the draft postponed for sixty or ninety days. The Board of Councilmen had no quorum yesterday.

Government securities were in unusually brisk request, yesterday. The inspiritingly decisive war news gave a strong impetus to the popular demand. The street commission houses were besieged by eager buyers, desirous of investing in the gold bearing bonds at prevailing low rates. No large orders, however, could be executed at these figures, though ⅛@¼ ₩ cent. above Saturdays quotations. The available supply of the bonds has been very materially reduced, by recent heavy purchases, chiefly for permanent investment. Buyers for European account were again in market taking all the round lots, especially of the Sixes of 1881 and of the favorite 5-20s, that were obtainable at current quotations, in anticipation of an early rise in prices. An active foreign demand at materially advanced figures is confidently looked for, as the prompt and legitimate consequence of the glorious intelligence from "this side of the water," sent out last week, and to go abroad by this week's steamers. The National 7-30 Loan is steadily regaining its place in public favor, and is now yielding quite a liberal income to the National Treasury, in accordance with the anticipations of Secretary MCCULLOUGH. The reported subscriptions to the Loan during the past week averaged $2,512,433 per day, as follows: Monday, $2,108,300; Tuesday, $2,075,000; Wednesday, $2,315,500; Thursday, $2,521,000; Friday, $3,307,000; Saturday, $2,567,400. The daily average this week will doubtless be a rising one. The orders for the $50 and $100 notes of this Loan averaged about 1,650 a day. The subscriptions to the Loan the preceding week reached an average of only $2,381,360 per day, and the orders for the $50 and $100 notes of the Loan an average of 1,652 a day.

Gold fell 4 ₩ cent., on the news of LEE's surrender, yesterday. The Stock Market, on the Railways, rose from 3 to 5 ₩ cent. Money was easy, and the general feeling on the Stock Exchange and in Wall-street unusually buoyant, especially in the Government line.

Business in Produce and Merchandise was very quiet yesterday. Prices of Domestic Produce favored buyers decidedly. People at the Produce Exchange were sublimely oblivious of all merely mercenary interests, in their demonstrations of patriotic ardor and enthusiasm. The Freight market was quite dull.

At the Live Stock Markets yesterday, the supplies of beef cattle were very light, causing a still greater advance in prices. Beeves sold fully 1 cent per pound above the rates of last week—prices ranging from 18c.@24c. ₩ ℔., net weight. Sheep also are higher, selling at 12c.@14c. ₩ ℔., live weight. In the prices of other animals, little change is noticed from last week.

The New Epoch—The Advent of Peace.

This continent quivered yesterday as never since its upheaval from chaos. The lightning flashed peace, and from ocean to ocean, all minds thrilled with the sense of a new order of things. No more deluge of blood. No more whirls of ruin. No more brooding darkness. The republic rested again, and upon foundations as eternal as the hills. The whole heavens were spanned with the rainbow of promise, and every eye saw it.

This tremendous transition has been betokened latterly by many signs, yet its coming was sudden. The terrible trials of the war have weighed so heavily upon the land, and the people have been so often deceived by false appearances, that a confirmed impression existed that the deliverance, if it ever came, would come only with protracted tribulation. Even now, in spite of all we see, it is hard to realize that the rebellion has vanished. But just now it threatened to engulf the nation.

"Glory to the Lord of Hosts, from whom all blessings are." If ever a people under heaven was bound to prostrate itself in gratitude, it is the loyal people of this land. Had it been foretold to them four years ago what trials awaited them, there would have been a universal cry of despairing agony. Human history affords no instance of such a national ordeal. Never could we have endured it but for the strength given from on high, as we had need. The most capacious minds of Europe, schooled to the uttermost limit in all the wisdom of the past, called this war a madness. It was a madness, if estimated by any material standard. Eight millions of Anglo-Saxon rebels, compacted as one man, brave to the last pitch, inhabiting a country peculiarly defensible, having the encouragement of untiring faction beyond their bounds, and a moral alliance with nearly every Power in the Old World, according to all the ordinary rules of judging, would surely prevail. But we had a hidden strength which the world did not understand. It was Faith—a faith that first broke upon us with the first flash of Sumter's guns, and that ever afterward went on widening and deepening. The people came to feel as by an inspiration from heaven, that the moral elements of the national cause made it irresistible. They were penetrated with the feeling, that as sure as there was an Almighty Father, He could not permit the success of a rebellion that was made only for the benefit of human slavery. It was this which carried them through the struggle. Ten times their physical strength would not have kept them up, in the absence of this sovereign faith. The race of Titans could not have maintained this war, if, too, they had been a race of atheists.

That religious faith is fitly followed now by a religious gratitude. It is wonderful to mark the solemn character of the joy that now spreads the land. There are waving flags, ringing bells, booming cannon, and other national tokens of public gladness. But yet it is plain to see that the dominant feeling of the people is no ebullient exhiliration over human achievement, but a profound sense of a Divine blessing. The popular heart relieves itself, not so much in cheers and hurrahs as in doxologies. Never since the hosannas of that Palm Sunday in Jerusalem, has such irrepressible praise rolled up from a city street to the pure vault of heaven as from the great thoroughfare of money-changers in New-York at the tidings that the rebel capital had fallen. Yet that was but the key-note of the universal anthem. The enemies of this republic may talk as they please of its materializing tendencies, may to their heart's content stigmatize our people as worshipers of the "almighty dollar," they but waste their breath. Business activities, strenuous as they are, have not stifled the religious sentiment of the American heart. This has been demonstrated in ways without number, but never so grandly as now.

With this gratitude for deliverance is mingled a fresh assurance that Heaven has reserved our republic for a destiny more glorious than can yet be conceived. Americans now feel that it is less than ever a presumption in them to believe themselves a chosen people, appointed to school the world to new ideas of human capacities and human rights. The monarchs of the Old World are trembling with apprehension lest we shall be moved to repay our injuries by turning against them our arms. They have a thousand times greater reason to fear the moral force of our new position. We stand a living proof of the matchless potency of popular self-government. It rivets the attention of the whole civilized world. It will start new thoughts, will generate new purposes, will nerve to new acts. This is as sure as that the human reason shall continue to exist. It is this that the dynasties have need to fear; it is here that we expect our sweetest revenge.

THE DRAFT.—What are the objects that may be presumed to be sought for by the continuance of a daily bulletin from the Provost-Marshal's office, threatening further and severer drafting measures throughout the city? Major DODGE probably has the commission to write in the following strain to the citizens of a community which is to-day doing ten times as much in recruiting as any other in the Union. But if he has that commission he surely does not exercise it with the utmost discretion. He says:

> "I shall exact of New-York City every man of her quota, and the sooner the people make up their minds that the men must be furnished the better it will be for all concerned."

It would be more acceptable to the people at large if Major DODGE would proceed to do what he vows, than continue day after day to threaten. We venture, however, to think that the folly of irritating the city with more of this utterly unnecessary business will be promptly put an end to. It is trifling with public intelligence to proclaim the necessity for drafting anywhere. The terms, moreover, in which Major DODGE assumes to address the citizens of New-York might be revised, without a reference to the War Department. New-York is not a military satrapy.

Gen. Johnston's Army.

The most interesting question now is, what will Jo. JOHNSTON do? He commands the only army of any magnitude now left in the Southern Confederacy. It is not a very formidable army in numbers, nor is it coherent in character. In every characteristic of an army, it is vastly inferior to that lately under LEE. It has never, as an army, fought a noteworthy battle. It has no traditions of success. It has no capable leaders. The troops of HARDEE, who fled from Savannah and then from Charleston, form its nucleus, and to these have been added the tail of HOOD's old army, the Wilmington force of BRAGG, the picayune force of BEAUREGARD, various feeble forces and garrisons picked up around, and a cavalry force under WADE HAMPTON and WHEELER. It is a piebald collection. Since its organization—such organization as it has—it has been steadily on the retreat; and the last we hear of it is that it has fled from Raleigh, and it must be now somewhere near the Southern border of Virginia. It was supposed that, in the last resort, LEE would try and effect a junction with it; but JOHNSTON and his troops doubtless heard yesterday of the surrender of LEE and his whole army.

Opposed to JOHNSTON is the powerful and magnificent army of Gen. SHERMAN. It is utterly impossible that JOHNSTON should cope with it. He knows it would be ruin for him to try. He knows it would be madness.

In forming a judgment as to the possible course of JOHNSTON in this emergency, we must take into consideration JOHNSTON's hopeless prospect, as well as the great surrender of Sunday. We must take into account, too, the relations of Gen. JOHNSTON to JEFF. DAVIS, and also his relations to Gen. LEE. For nearly two years JOHNSTON and DAVIS have been in a state of bitter animosity with each other. They quarreled at the time of GRANT's operations against Vicksburgh; and the Richmond rebel papers have often given us accounts of the depth of their mutual hatred. Twice has DAVIS removed JOHNSTON from command; and on the last occasion, at Atlanta, it was under circumstances which stung JOHNSTON to the quick. The whole press and people of the South clamored loudly for his reinstatement; but DAVIS was implacable. On the other hand, the relations of JOHNSTON to LEE have always been those of mutual respect and friendliness. One of the first acts of Gen. LEE, when he received from the Confederate Congress the command of all the Confederate armies three months ago, was to put JOHNSTON in command of the only army beside his own that existed in the South.

Now, under these circumstances, leaving out of view the hopeless prospect, it may be doubted whether JOHNSTON will exhibit such devotion to the person and interests of DAVIS as to remain any longer in the field in his service. It is far more likely he will follow the example set him by his chief and friend, the Commander of the Confederate armies. If he does not do it quickly, SHERMAN will presently break him and his army to pieces. Then JEFF. DAVIS will be hardly able to get even a body-guard. This week will doubtless wind up JOHNSTON, one way or another.

REBEL SURRENDERS.—Three rebel armies have surrendered to Gen. GRANT—that under BUCKNER at Fort Donelson, on the 16th of February, 1862; that under PEMBERTON at Vicksburgh, on the 4th of July, 1863; and that under Gen. LEE, on the 9th of April, 1865. He is the only one of our Generals who has ever induced a rebel army to surrender; and he has induced three of them.

FROM RICHMOND.

The Mansion of Jeff. Davis—Temper of the People—Government of the City—The Late Rebel Newspapers—The "Whig" and its New Editors—Jubilee Meeting.

From Our Own Correspondent.

RICHMOND, Friday, April 7.

The mansion of JEFF. DAVIS is, of course, a great centre of attraction. It is situated at the corner of Marshall and Governor streets, in a very sightly location, about three squares north of the capitol, and is a substantial, unostentatious mansion of a somewhat antiquated style, but presenting an air of solidity and decided comfort. It is not roomy enough for much display, but an inspection of its interior reveals quite as much elegance as could be expected from the limited resources of the Confederacy. The rooms on the main floor are about eight in number and Brussels and velvet carpets, lace and damask curtains, rosewood, set in blue and gold, marble-top tables, French plate mirrors, easy chairs and lounges in rep and richer covering, abound with the same degree of good taste and profusion that prevail in the mansions of many of your well-to-do New-Yorkers. The bedrooms are luxuriously furnished; while the china and glassware, and the culinary arrangements generally, attest the fact of good living on the part of the occupants. The house was left, in fact, by DAVIS, but most of the family effects were removed. Mrs. JEFF. had packed her trunks and gone to the country a few days before, and did not have time to return before the city was evacuated. She has probably joined her refugee husband before this.

JEFF. DAVIS' carriage, built for him three years ago in New-Orleans, at an expense of three thousand dollars, is among our captures. It was taken to the Danville depot, but there was no room for it, and then it was run up against one of the walls to burn; but by some good fortune it was rescued, though in a slightly damaged condition. It is in good running order, however, and with a few repairs it will again be quite a stylish vehicle. The pair of bay horses that he used to drive were run out of the city, together with all the other live stock.

In regard to the temper of the people of the city, no intelligent opinion can yet be formed. They are very docile, and the property owners who suffered by the fire are very gloomy. The poorer classes express their gratification openly at the Union occupancy of the city, and the negroes, of course, are overjoyed. The fire, caused as it was, will have an influence toward causing many of the citizens to renew their loyalty. They will do so for two reasons: First, because the ruin brought upon them was by the hands which should have protected them, and second, because being reduced to poverty they will find pecuniary profit in no other way than by becoming loyal citizens again.

The city is being governed at present by the Provost-Marshal system. The very best executive capacity in the country should be required for the military governorship of Richmond. The citizens should be shown that they are to be allowed the utmost latitude of personal freedom and privileges of commerce consistant with military occupation, and the development of loyalty thus fostered, must be respected by those who are still devotes of the rebellion at heart if not in action. The functions of the civil authorities have been suspended by military order, and military rule will alone govern the city corporation. Assistance from the Mayor and the legislative branch of the city government, so far as they can cooperate, will undoubtedly be cheerfully given. The police regulations will of course be military, but the sanitary condition of the city may be left to the city authorities.

All the prominent private citizens, with very few exceptions, remain in the city. Among the old merchants this is particularly the case. They apparently had little desire to get away before the evacuation, and still less since their great losses by the fire. Among the heaviest sufferers by the fire is HORACE L. KENT, of the firm of KENT, PAYNE & Co., the largest dry-goods house in Richmond, and well known in New-York. I hear Mr. KENT classed as a Union man by those who pride themselves upon their loyalty to the rebellion. The flouring-mills of Richmond have long been among the best known and most extensive on the continent. The two largest, which will be recognized at once by every flour dealer in the chief cities in the Union, were Gallaghers, owned by Messrs. WARWICK & BARKSDALE, and HAXALL & CRONSHAW's. The former, the larger of the two, and eleven stories in height, were burned. HAXALL & CRONSHAW's stands uninjured, and how it happened to be saved seems very strange. It contains no flour or grain, but its machinery is ready for operation.

The Richmond papers are, with one exception, non est. It is to be presumed that the people of the North are anxious to know what kind of men their editors were and who they were. I have some facts in regard to them that are worth knowing. The Sentinel, whose establishment was not destroyed, was owned and edited by RICHARD M. SMITH, and the supposition that JEFF. DAVIS or BENJAMIN actually wrote leaders for it is a mistake. The proprietor is here but says he will not take the oath. The Dispatch was completely burned up, and its proprietors have left the city. Its chief editor was HUGHES PLEASANT, who is still here. The Enquirer was also burned up. It was edited by its owners, TYLER ALLIGER, who are gone. The Examiner presses and machinery were destroyed and the type removed. It was owned by JOHN M. DAVIS and H. E. POLLARD. DANIELS died about ten days ago. Its editors were JOHN MITCHELL and E. A. POLLARD. MITCHELL decamped, but both the POLLARDS are still here stopping at the Spottswood House. I have heard that E. A. POLLARD, well-known for his Southern history of the war, is said to be seeking a passport to leave the country. He will thus do his country the only service of which he is capable. The Whig is still issued, now as a loyal paper, by one of its former proprietors. But the others, and its chief editor, MCDONALD, are gone. Mr. GRAHAM, one of the assistant editors, remains, and the paper has already improved in appearance, tone and vivacity. The new editor that the Whig announces will shortly assume control of its columns is understood to be ROBERT RIDGEWAY, Esq., of Bedford County, one of the strongest Union men in the State. The Whig building was the last in Richmond to float the Union flag. This is the present condition of those sheets and their pugnacious editors. The manufacturers of last ditch opinions are defunct institutions.

I shall never forget a scene I witnessed, yesterday, at the Historical African Church, on Broad-street, where, it will be remembered, the Richmond rebels, just after the close of the Peace Conference, held a great meeting, and sought to fire anew the great Southern heart. I don't wonder the attempt failed. It was simply a bit of spite to use this church edifice for a such a purpose, and to utter such sentiments in the temple made sacred by the suppressed prayers for freedom of the thousands of black worshippers who assembled there, was simple sacrilege. It is an evidence of the lack of faith in their cause that the rebels should choose the most unostentatious edifice in Richmond for their purpose. This church is built in the form of a cross, and will seat perhaps fifteen hundred persons. It is perfectly plain in its furnishings, and is about the last place one would think of selecting for getting up any particular enthusiasm on any other subject than religion. Had the rebels thought their cause worthy of it, there were a dozen churches in Richmond, far more appropriate for their purpose, where secession was regularly preached by that peculiar instinct which the colored man uses with such success. Word was circulated yesterday, that in the afternoon there would be a "Jubilee Meeting" at the church. By the time services had commenced the building was crammed with a black mass of humanity, and among them were many of our colored soldiers. When we entered, the audience was singing WATTS' hymn, beginning and after each line repeating three times the following, with great emphasis:

"Jesus my all to Heaven is gone."

I'm going to join in this army;
I'm going to join in this army of my Lord.

When they came to the verse commencing,

This is the way I long have sought, the emphasis was so significant that the smiles of the spectators could hardly be repressed.

After an appropriate prayer by a member of the Christian Commission, the Rev. Dr. BARROWS, of Andover Theological Seminary, preached a very eloquent and appropriate sermon. Care was taken that nothing should be said to arouse the passions or resentments of the slaves; and the exercises closed amid the greatest good feeling. It was, indeed, another marked evidence of the great revolution, as we contrast it with the meeting held in the same church two months ago.

"The mills of God grind slowly,
But they grind exceeding fine."

Safe Conduct of the Rebel Senator Hunter—The Virginia (Rebel) Legislature—Rumors Concerning President Lincoln's Propositions.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 10.

Reliable information has been received from a gentleman who left Richmond yesterday, that Gen. SHEPLEY, by order of the President, has given safe conduct to Senator HUNTER, to come and go from that city. He is supposed to be on his estate in Essex County, fifty miles from Richmond.

There were no prayers offered in the churches yesterday for the President, and, of course, none for the Southern Confederacy.

The citizens generally regard the war as over, and further resistance, therefore, as unwise.

The Richmond Whig, of Saturday, says:

> "The statement that there would be a meeting last evening of such members of the Virginia Legislature as still remained in the city, was not strictly correct. There was no meeting of the Legislature, or others, but simply an informal conference and consultation of private individuals, among whom were five or six members of the Legislature. The motive of these gentlemen coming together was to hear from Judge CAMPBELL the terms upon which President LINCOLN had expressed himself as willing that Virginia might return to the Union.
> Messrs. J. R. ANDERSON, DAVID J. BURR, NATHANIEL P. TYLER, and H. W. THOMAS, were appointed a Committee to inform the Legislature and Gov. SMITH of President LINCOLN's terms, and Judge CAMPBELL was requested to accompany the committee, who were to leave the city as soon as passports could be procured. It was said to be probable that they would get off this morning. We prefer not to state our understanding of Mr. LINCOLN's terms, as our information on that head is not official."

The only information received in Washington of President LINCOLN's proposition, is that it was of a very liberal character.

Subscriptions to the Seven-thirty Loan.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 10.

JAY COOKE reports the subscriptions to the Seven-thirty Loan to-day, at $3,873,650, including $200,000 from Norfolk, $174,000 from Desmoines, Iowa, and $400,000 from New-York in single subscriptions; also 3,011 individual subscriptions for $50 and $100.

THE BLOCKADE.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT

Regulations Respecting Vessels Entering Southern Ports.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, By my proclamations of the 19th and 27th days of April, 1861, the ports of the United States, in the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, were declared to be subject to blockade; but, whereas, the said blockade has, in consequence of actual military occupation by this government, since been conditionally set aside or relaxed in respect to the ports of Norfolk and Alexandria, in the State of Virginia; Beaufort, in the State of North Carolina; Port Royal, in the State of South Carolina; Pensacola and Fernandina, in the State of Florida; and New-Orleans, in the State of Louisiana; and

Whereas, by the fourth section of the act of Congress, approved on the 13th of July, 1861, entitled "An Act further to provide for the collection of duties on imports, and for other purposes," the President, for the reasons therein set forth, is authorized to close certain ports of entry;

Now, therefore, be it known that I, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim that the ports of Richmond, Tappahannock, Cherrystone, Yorktown, and Petersburgh in Virginia; of Camden, Elizabeth City, Edenton, Plymouth, Washington, Newbern, Ocracoke and Wilmington in North Carolina; of Charleston, Georgetown, and Beaufort, in South Carolina; of Savannah, St. Mary's, Brunswick and Darien in Georgia; of Mobile, in Alabama; of Pearl River, Shieldsboro, Natchez and Vicksburgh, in Mississippi; of St. Augustine, Key West, St. Marks, Port Leon, St. Johns, Jacksonville and Apalachicola, in Florida, of Teche Franklin, in Louisiana; of Galveston, Lasalle, Brazos de Santiago, Point Isabel and Brownsville, in Texas; are hereby closed, and all right of importation, warehousing and other privileges, shall, in respect to the ports aforesaid, cease until they shall have again been opened by order of the President; and if, while the said ports are so closed any ship or vessel from beyond the United States, or having on board any articles subject to duties, shall attempt to enter any such port, the same, together with its tackle, apparel, furniture and cargo, shall be forfeited to the United States.

[L. S.] In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this eleventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the eighty-ninth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 10.

GEN. BUTLER ON RECONSTRUCTION.

Among those who delivered speeches to-day was Maj.-Gen. BUTLER. His remarks were principally directed to the subject of the future disposition by the government of the participants in the rebellion. He recommended that all the leaders should be disfranchised and disqualified for holding any office under the government, but that the masses, including the negroes, should have the rights of citizenship. The address was loudly applauded, and at its conclusion the crowd dispersed.

THE DAY OF JUBILEE.

Very little public business was transacted to-day, even the courts adjourned.

REBEL PRISONERS.

Within the past two weeks over twenty thousand rebel prisoners have been sent away from City Point, and a large number still remain there.

SPEECH BY THE PRESIDENT.

Several hundred persons gathered before the Executive mansion this afternoon at 5:30. Frequent calls were made for the President, who appeared merely to say: "If the company had assembled by appointment, some mistake had crept into their understanding. He had appeared before a larger audience than this one to-day, and he would repeat what he then said, namely, he supposed, owing to the great, good news, there would be some demonstration. He would prefer tomorrow evening, when he should be quite willing, and, he hoped, ready, to say something. He desired to be particular, because everything he said got into print. [Laughter.] Occupying the position he did, a mistake would produce harm, and, therefore, he wanted to be careful not to make a mistake [A VOICE—You have not made any yet.]

The President was greeted with cheers, and, after bidding the crowd good evening, retired.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT DISPATCH AGENT.

Mr. JAS. C. DERBY, publisher, of No. 5 Sprucestreet, New-York, has just been appointed United States Dispatch Agent for that city, in the place of OSCAR IRVING, deceased.

Anticipated Presidential Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 10.

The National Intelligencer of to-day says:

> "We learn, from an authentic source, that Judge CAMPBELL, of Alabama, formerly of the United States Supreme Court, and one of the Hampton Roads Commissioners of the rebel government, called upon the President at Richmond, and urged him to issue a proclamation of a conciliatory character; expressing his belief that it would have at this time a most salutary effect.
> The President, however, was not then prepared for this step, and it was quite reasonable to suppose he would decline action upon this subject while GRANT was pressing upon LEE's retreating forces."

That the President will now adopt this course, the Intelligencer has additional reasons for believing.

Dispatch Steamer for Europe.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The Inman steamer City of Dublin was dispatched for Europe at 5 P. M., to-day, as a special steamer to convey the news of LEE's surrender.

JOHN G. DALE.

NEW-YORK, April 10, 1865.

Amusements.

ITALIAN OPERA.—Mr. MARETZEK's benefit takes place to-night. It is tendered to him by the members of his company, and is honestly a proper mark of respect to a hard-working and conscientious man. What we have here in music we owe almost exclusively to Mr. MARETZEK. All other managers are trivial and unimportant speculators in comparison with him. It is needless for us to dwell on the merits of a gentleman whose merits we have for many years been called upon to indorse. It is unnecessary also to direct attention to to-night's performance at the Academy—the seats being nearly all taken. But, however useless, there are times when the critic feels that his voice may be raised with pleasure to himself. To-night is certainly the opportunity. The opera of "Il Poliuto" and an act from "La Forza del Destino," will be performed.

SALE OF SEATS FOR MR. KEAN'S ENGAGEMENT.—The sale of the choice of seats in the Broadway Theatre, to witness the eleven nights' performance of Mr. and Mrs. KEAN, took place yesterday morning, under the direction of Mr. C. W. TAYLEURE, the auctioneers being Messrs. HENRY H. LEEDS & MINER. The private boxes A, B, and Nos. 1, 3 and 4, were first put up, when A and B were disposed of at $20 each premium—the seats per night being $15, thereby bringing $470. The purchasers were Mr. B. FISHER and Mr. T. B. MCDONALD. The sale for orchestra chairs then proceeded, when the choice of selection was knocked down at $4 50 each, the chairs per night being $2 50—when the following result was reached: 160 chairs for eleven nights at $2 50, $4,400; premium for the eleven nights for 160 orchestra chairs, $720; total, $5,120. The dress circle tickets were next set up, when twenty of them were disposed of at $6 75 premium, the seats being $2 each, which produced $575—the total amount of the day's sale being $6,165. The selection of seats not sold yesterday will be disposed of at the box-office to-day, and all that may then remain unsold will be sold for single nights on Wednesday morning. Mr. LEEDS said he was authorized by Mr. KEAN to say that the statement that he had made a second engagement was erroneous. He had made only one engagement.

AFFAIRS IN CHARLESTON.

The U. S. steam transport Fulton, WOTTON Commander, from Port Royal, S. C., April 7, with mails and passengers to U. S. Quartermaster, arrived here yesterday morning.

On the 8th inst., 1:30 P. M., Cape Lookout bearing N. N. E., distance 17 miles, passed the steamship Black Stone, bound south.

Same day, at 3 P. M., Cape Lookout, bearing N. N. W., distance 12 miles, passed the steamship Gen. Barnes, bound south; passed the propeller Cumberland, bound south. At 8 P. M., passed three large steamers bound south.

Revival of Business—Raids into the Interior—Movements of Notabilities—Deserters—Union Sentiment.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Wednesday, April 5, 1865.

Within the past month, trade in Charleston has revived to a wonderful degree. King-street is fairly alive with business, and on Meeting and Broad streets the stores are being rapidly fitted up and occupied. Of course, we cannot expect that trade will continue active through the heated term. In about two months business will drag, and not be really active again until the Fall season. The merchants and traders are making preparations for a good business at the close of the Summer, at which time Charleston will doubtless be the centre of trade for the cities and towns in the interior. The citizens are anxious to learn when the port will be declared open by the government, and take the ground that until it is thrown open, the wholesale business of the city must be limited. The impression prevails here that the port will remain sealed until the end of the war, for the reason that a surplus quantity of goods would tempt parties to carry them across the lines, a proceeding, of course, which it is not the intention of the government to facilitate.

The time will come when the city will be placed on its old business footing, but the change from the present state of affairs cannot be effected in a week nor a month. Time must be had to repair the damaged buildings, and to enable the old merchants to accumulate sufficient capital to start in business afresh. At present the citizens of Charleston are without means to engage in any extensive enterprise. The lower classes of people appear to have more money than the higher, and it is by their patronage that the shops and stores now open are sustained. Men who before the war were reported as very wealthy, and who moved in the first circles of society, are reduced to penury, while the clod-hopper of the past is enjoying himself on the funds which he has been secreting during the progress of the rebellion.

A RAID.

This morning, a force of troops, under command of Col. HARTWELL, left in transports for Georgetown, for the purpose of making a raid in the interior. It is hoped that the expedition will result in the capture of a gang of the rebel Gen. YOUNG's guerrillas who have been in the vicinity of Georgetown and Somerville for quite a while, pillaging and robbing the white citizens and murdering the blacks. We heard of a party of rebels the other day as being in the vicinity of Charleston, and also of another squad between here and Savannah. They doubtless belonged to YOUNG's cavalry. The rebels are represented to be desperate in the extreme, and to have committed some most heathenish acts. A man who lately came from Columbia reports that in a piece of woods about twenty miles from Charleston he saw two colored men hanging from a tree. In another place a white man was found hung by the neck with a form of the oath of allegiance to the United States pinned on his coat. These barbarities were doubtless the work of YOUNG's desperadoes who, should they chance to fall into the hands of the troops of the expedition, will be made to pay a very dear penalty. It is estimated that YOUNG has a force of 500 men at Somerville. We hope to see them all bagged. The running of the cars to Somerville has been discontinued. In the first place the railroad is not profitable, and secondly, so far as the Union troops are concerned, they are not in that direction. The raiding expedition is expected to return to this city in five days. I will then send a full account of their doings.

MAJ.-GEN. GILLMORE

came off from Hilton Head in his flag steamer Diamond, on Sunday. He remained in town a few hours and then proceeded to Georgetown, to give some directions concerning the raid. He returned to Charleston on the following day, and thence sailed for Hilton Head. A naval force accompanies the expedition as far up as the river will admit.

ARRIVAL OF ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NAVY FOX.

On Friday last, the United States steamer Santiago de Cuba, Capt. O. S. GLISSON, having on board Assistant Secretary of the Navy Fox and lady; Mr. John C. Nicolay, Private Secretary to President Lincoln; Mr. James L. Forbes and daughters, Miss Woodbury, Mr. Welles, son of Secretary Welles; Mr. Green, of China; Mr. Charles C. Fulton, of the Baltimore American, and a number of other officers and civilians, came up the harbor to Charleston. In anticipation of the arrival of Secretary WELLES, Admiral DAHLGREN had ordered the vessels in the bay to be decorated with bunting and their yards manned. As the Santiago de Cuba came up she was greeted with a salute from the gunboats Pawnee, Sonoma, Tuscarora, Georgia, Cimerone, and various other vessels. On the following day the party, accompanied by Admiral DAHLGREN, visited Fort Sumter and other fortifications in the harbor, and on Sunday the visitors left for Savannah, it being their intention to proceed thence to Havana. The Santiago de Cuba is one of the fleetest vessels in the navy, and took a prominent part in both of the engagements at Fort Fisher.

DESERTERS.

Complaints have been frequently made by citizens that their premises have been entered by soldiers and civilians who assumed they had authority from the District or Post Headquarters to search for articles of furniture. The other day a fellow entered the house of a citizen on Beaufair-street, and after telling the housekeeper he would knock her down if she dared to interfere with his movements, proceeded very deliberately to help himself to whatever he could conveniently carry off. The owner of the house was absent at the time, but when he came home the facts were given him and he notified the Provost-Marshal of what had happened. Detectives were at once dispatched to discover the thief if possible, and, in the course of two or three days, they succeeded in fastening the house-breaking and house-stealing acts on a soldier who, in company with others, had deserted from our army. It is not a part of the policy pursued by the authorities to allow the citizens to be indiscriminately robbed, and orders have been issued by Gen. HATCH prohibiting soldiers or citizens going about, plundering and stealing from houses. In two or three instances parties have been shot while attempting to take any property that does not belong to them.

THE UNION SENTIMENT.

No definite action has been taken as yet on the part of the white citizens of Charleston to evince in a public manner their Union sentiments, although no doubt is entertained that there are thousands of people—old residents of the city—who are heartily in favor of the Union and the Union cause. I was told by a leading gentleman, yesterday, that a meeting would probably be held within a short time; but it is very plain that the longer the matter is postponed, the more convinced will the people at the North become that a Union sentiment does not exist in this community. The colored people have taken the matter in hand, and held a very large meeting at Zion Church, at which they adopted the following series of resolutions.

Whereas, It is fitting that an expression should be given to the sentiments of deep-seated gratitude that pervade our breasts; be it

Resolved, That by the timely arrival of the Army of the United States of America in the City of Charleston, on the 18th of February, 1865, our city was saved from a vast conflagration, our homes from devastation, and our persons from those indignities that they would have been subjected to.

Resolved, That our thanks are due and are hereby freely tendered to the District Commander, Brig.-Gen. HATCH, and through him to the officers and soldiers under his command, for the protection they have so readily and so impartially bestowed since their occupation of the city.

Resolved, That to Admiral DAHLGREN, U. S. N., do we hereby tender our most sincere thanks for the noble manner in which he cared for and administered to the wants of our people at Georgetown, S. C., and to be assured that the same shall ever be held in grateful remembrance by us.

Resolved, That to his Excellency the President of the United States of America, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, we return our most sincere thanks, and never dying gratitude, for the noble and patriotic manner in which he promulgated the doctrines of republicanism, and for the consistency in not only promising, but invariably conforming his actions thereto, and we shall ever be pleased to acknowledge and hail him as the champion of the rights of freemen.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to Brig.-Gen. HATCH, Admiral DAHLGREN, his Excellency the President of the United States of America, and that they be published in the Charleston Courier.

MOSES B. CHAMPLIN, Chairman.
R. DE LARGE, Secretary.

The above will do very well for the colored people, whose loyalty to the Union we are not likely to question, but what we most desire is to see an expression of sentiment from the white citizens. It is to hoped they will not be backward in letting the people at the North know their views on the war question.

COTTON.

For the past three and four weeks drays and wagons have been employed transporting cotton from various portions of the city to storehouses in Broad-street, taken by the authorities for that purpose. About three thousand bales have been collected in this way. In the course of time the cotton will be placed on board vessels and taken North. The owners of the cotton manifest no little uneasiness as to the matter of their receiving payment for the property. It is the impression of many that the government will do the right thing by them, while with others the impression prevails that their cotton will yield them no benefit.

A STREET RAILWAY.

There is a very good prospect that we shall have a street railway in operation next Fall. Parties have applied to the proper authorities for permission to lay the track, and it is to be hoped that privilege will be granted. The proposed route is up Meeting-street to the Magnolia Cemetery, thence back on King, to Broad-street.

THE SANITARY CONDITION of the city is being attended to by the military authorities. Gen. HATCH is determined that if possible the place shall be kept free of epidemics during the coming warm season.

SHERMAN'S ARMY.

Reported Evacuation of Raleigh—The City Said to be Occupied by Our Forces.

The Goldsboro correspondent of the Associated Press, under date of the 6th inst., states that rebel deserters and refugees report the evacuation of Raleigh by the enemy, and that there is no rebel force of any account between Goldsboro and Raleigh.

REPORTS FROM GOLDSBORO.

Order by Gen. Sherman—Miscellaneous.

GOLDSBORO, Thursday, April 6.

Deserters and refugees who continue to come into our lines report the evacuation of Raleigh by the enemy. They state that there is no rebel force of any account between Goldsboro and Raleigh; that the enemy were throwing up works on the line of the Tar River, at Rocky Mount, which is forty miles from this place, in the direction of Weldon, on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad.

The enemy are burning the bridges and ties on this railroad, and carrying off the rails. Their deserters say that JOHNSTON expects that SHERMAN will move from here direct to Weldon, so as to form a junction with Gen. GRANT. Hence these operations on the Weldon road.

It is thought that JOHNSTON will go to the relief of LEE, and attempt to form a junction with him, but he will be too late to render LEE any service in the vicinity of Richmond.

JOHNSTON's army is much demoralized.

The Ninth New-Jersey Volunteers are doing guard duty in this city. Lieut.-Col. SAMUEL HUFTY is the Provost-Marshal of the city, and Lieut. S. C. BARNUM, of the same regiment, is Assistant Provost-Marshal.

Assistant-Surgeon F. B. GILLETTE has been promoted to full Surgeon of the Ninth New-Jersey Volunteers.

Col. JAMES STEWART, of this regiment, will command a brigade in SHERMAN's army, in which his regiment will be included.

The following order has recently been issued by Gen. SHERMAN:

HEADQUARTERS MIL. DIV. OF THE MISSISSIPPI,
IN THE FIELD, GOLDSBORO, N. C., April 1, 1865.

[Extract.]

SPECIAL FIELD ORDER No. 44.—VII. The following is announced as the organization of this army:

Right wing—Army of the Tennessee, Fifteenth and Seventeenth Corps, Maj.-Gen. O. O. HOWARD, Commanding.

Left Wing—Army of Georgia, Fourteenth and Twentieth Corps, Maj.-Gen. H. A. SLOCUM, Commanding.

Centre—Army of Ohio, Tenth and Twenty-third Corps, Maj.-Gen. J. W. SCHOFIELD, Commanding.

Cavalry—Brevet Maj.-Gen. J. KILPATRICK, Commanding.

VIII. Each of these commanders will exercise the powers prescribed by law for a General commanding a special department or army in the field.

IX. Maj.-Gen. JOS. H. MOWER is hereby, subject to the approval of the President, appointed to command the Twentieth Corps, vice SLOCUM, promoted to a command of an army in the field.

X. Brig.-Gen. CHARLES WALCOTT is hereby transferred from the Army of Tennessee to the Army of Georgia, for the assignment to the command of a division made vacant.

XI. Brig.-Gen. CHARLES EWING, having been promoted, is hereby released from staff duty at these headquarters, and will report to Maj.-Gen. HOWARD for assignment to duty according to his rank.

THE ST. ALBANS RAIDERS.

The raiders were brought before the court this morning, and all discharged excepting YOUNG, who was committed for trial.

AFFAIRS IN ALBANY.

The Pay of the New-York Common Council.

ALBANY, Monday, April 10.

The Assembly was occupied to-night with a discussion on the Senate Bill to pay the members of the Common Council of New-York two thousand dollars each per year. The House went into committee, and Mr. VAN BUREN denounced the bill as an outrage on the people of New-York. The proposition was to tax the people without a single petition for it, when money was yearly taken from the treasury by fraud the bill called for.

JACOB L. SMITH denied that the charges of stealing against the Common Council were true. He had been a member, and stole no more than he had for the last four years as a member of the Assembly. He wanted to know who stole the money.

Mr. VAN BUREN had stated what was of public notoriety, and as patent as that the sun shines. Did the gentleman ever hear of the Japanese institution?

SMITH—Yes; I was at the ball.

VAN BUREN—So was I, and, strange to say, I went home sober.

SMITH—I call the gentleman to order. I saw him that night, and he was not sober.

VAN BUREN—The gentleman was in such a condition that night that it was impossible for him to judge. The whole thing was a swindle on the treasury of the city.

Mr. VAN BUREN then offered an amendment prohibiting and making void any donation by the Common Council to corporations or individuals, or any increase of salaries.

Mr. STEWART advocated the amendment.

Mr. MATHEWS, of Sullivan, offered an amendment providing that no donation or increase of salary, except on a vote of three-fourths of all the members elected to both branches of the Common Council.

Mr. MATHEWS' amendment was adopted, together with the original amendment of Mr. VAN BUREN.

The bill was then ordered to a third reading, by a vote of 78 to 30. Its final passage is exceedingly doubtful.

PERSIMMON.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

ALBANY, Monday, April 10.

Immediately on the organization of the Senate this morning, Mr. HAVENS moved the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we hail with feelings of irrepressible delight, and with hearts full of gratitude to Almighty God, the downfall of the slaveholders' rebellion, and with it that colossal system of iniquity and crime to perpetuate and extend which it was inaugurated.

Resolved, That no heroes mentioned on the page of history so richly deserve a nation's gratitude and praise as those who, under the blessings of God, have achieved the glorious victories which have saved our nation from disintegration and destitution, and that we tender to our Commander-in-Chief and the officers and soldiers under his command, who have met and conquered the enemies of the republic, our warmest gratitude and praise for their noble and heroic deeds, and their names shall ever be enshrined in our hearts' best affections and handed down to our children as worthy to be remembered and honored, while the republic in its new and purified life shall continue to dispense its blessing of free government and universal liberty to all mankind.

Mr. FIELDS moved to strike out the word "slaveholders" as a naked proposition. He denied that this was exclusively a slaveholder's rebellion. It originated in the conflict between abolitionists and slavery. But be that as it may, now in the hour of glorious triumph, when peace and the reunion of the States are so near, he thought there was no necessity for indulging in offensive epithets.

Mr. BELL said that if the history of the times taught us anything, it was that this was a slaveholder's rebellion, and this being a generally acknowledged fact, he thought it quite proper to express it. It is quite time that gentlemen in the North should abandon the fallacy, which has been abandoned by the Confederacy itself. As to the terms granted by Gen. GRANT to Gen. LEE, had he (BELL) been present and had a voice in framing them, feeling as he did now, he would have required the rebel army to submit to the proclamation of President LINCOLN and the laws of Congress, rather than simply requiring them to observe the laws of their respective States.

Mr. FIELDS was perfectly well aware of the fact that has now been developed, that the magnanimous, noble, humane and soldierly terms of Gen. GRANT would not be at all satisfactory to the radicals. He (FIELDS) had no doubt whatever of the fitness and magnanimity of the terms offered by Gen. GRANT to the army of Gen. LEE which he had conquered. He was perfectly satisfied with the terms of Gen. Grant. He did not rise to discuss the resolutions, but to say, lest a wrong impression as to the feelings of the Senators should get abroad, that in his judgment the time has come when we are called upon to exercise the least practical, yet the noblest quality of the victors—magnanimity toward the vanquished. The time has arrived to lay aside all feelings of enmity, hatred and malice, and to take a nobler view of the hour, and learn from it the lesson which it teaches—and that is charity. Vengeance does not belong to us, but to our Heavenly Father. So far as he was concerned, he trusted that he had eradicated from his breast all feelings of revenge or animosity toward those we have conquered.

Mr. HUMPHREY moved to add the following:

"And we cordially approve of the letter and spirit of the surrender of the rebel army as declared and accepted by Gen. GRANT."

Mr. FOLGER had not supposed that these resolutions were intended as a test of political faith now and hereafter, but the Senator from the Seventh District (Mr. FIELDS,) seems desirous to give it that turn, and to the end that the sentiments of the majority may be fully and unitedly expressed, he moved that the resolutions be referred to a committee of five.

The motion was carried, and the President appointed the following committee:

Messrs. Folger, Havens, Andrews, Humphrey and Fields.

BILLS REPORTED.

The New-York Fire Department Fund bill.

The New-York and Bay Side Ferry Company bill.

BILLS PASSED.

The Third-street Brooklyn Improvement Bill.

To close a portion of One Hundred and Thirty-ninth-street, New-York.

Ratifying the amendment to the Constitution prohibiting slavery.

Incorporating the National Turkish Bath Company.

Providing for the registration of deaths in the several towns and wards in the State.

Incorporating the New-York Subaqueous Metallic Dock and Warehouse Company.

Incorporating the North American and Italian Steamship Company.

Authorizing the extension of the track of the Third-avenue Railroad. Recess.

ASSEMBLY.

ALBANY, Monday, April 10.

The bill relative to the Harlem Bridge was reported.

BILLS PASSED.

The New-York City Bounty and Bonds Bill.

To incorporate the City of Newburgh.

To enable the New-York and Housatonic and Northern Railroad Company to accept a grant from the State of Connecticut.

Relative to false certificates of death in New-York.

Mr. GLEASON offered a series of resolutions returning thanks to Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, his officers and soldiers, for the overthrow of the military power of the rebellion, and declaring that moderation in the hour of victory, and forgiveness of injuries endured, become us as a great nation; and that it will be the earnest bond of union in the future between us, for it will win the vanquished back to our hearts and arms, and thus recall them to loyalty and repentance.

Objections were made to the consideration of the resolutions.

The privileges of the floor were extended to Ex-Gov. POLLOCK, of Pennsylvania, and GEORGE H. STUART, President of the Christian Commission, and on being introduced by the Speaker to the House, they congratulated the members and people upon the great victory of Sunday. Recess.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. SANDFORD reported the bill to confirm the ordinance of the Common Council of New-York authorizing the Third-avenue Railroad Company to extend their track.

Mr. J. L. PARKER moved to go into Committee of the Whole on the bill fixing the compensation of members of the New-York Common Council, which was carried.

Mr. VAN BUREN moved to strike out the enacting clause. No one had petitioned for the bill, and he denounced it as a swindle upon the taxpayers.

Mr. J. L. PARKER had no interest in the bill, but believed it was right to pay men for their services.

Mr. LYONS believed the principle of the bill correct and should vote for it.

Mr. G. L. SMITH denied that the Common Council were dishonest. All the other elective officers in the city were paid for their services, and why not include the Aldermen?

Mr. VAN BUREN moved to amend by prohibiting the Common Council from making any donation from the public funds to any individual corporation, or making any increase of salaries, and declaring any such action void.

Mr STEWART would give men holding responsible positions fair remuneration, and was therefore in favor of this bill, though he would vote for the amendment offered by Mr. VAN BUREN. The men who complain the most about dishonest aldermen do the least toward putting good men in the board.

Mr. MATHEWS moved to amend Mr. VAN BUREN's amendment that no donation or increase of salaries shall be made without the vote of three-fourths of all the members elected to the board.

Mr. MATHEWS' amendment was adopted.

Progress was then reported.

Mr. J. L. SMITH moved to order the bill to a third reading, which was carried, 48 to 30.

Adjourned.

Ten wells are now going down on the company's property, in the richest portion of the famous Sugar Creek Valley. There is room for 500 more.

The trustees will refrain from lengthy advertisement of the prospects of the SUGAR CREEK PETROLEUM COMPANY, and content themselves with pointing to the features which distinguish it from many enterprises of the day. THE STOCK IS NOT WATERED. The projectors depend for their profits solely on a RISE IN ITS MARKET PRICE.

But a few thousand shares will be sold, and these on the only honest basis, viz., AT THEIR PAR VALUE.

The company's property is worth more than the entire capital stock. The latter is so small, indeed, that even a ten-barrel well will pay regular monthly dividends. The Sugar Creek Wells are but half as expensive, and the oil is twice as valuable as the wells and oil either of Oil Creek or Cherry Run. Prospectuses and Maps can be obtained, and subscriptions effected, by application to CHARLES G. JUDSON, No. 84 Chambers-st.; CHARLES GOULD, No. 58 Wall-st.; J. L. EVERITT, Broadway Bank, or to either of the trustees.

COAL AT COST.

CONSUMERS' BENEFIT COAL COMPANY.
SHARES, $10.

Each share entitles the holder to one ton of coal per year, at the cost of mining, transportation and delivery, which is now about $8 per ton; also to a share of the profits on the sale of coal produced beyond the quantity supplied to shareholders.

Those who buy for investment can have the coal they will be entitled to sold for their benefit, and receive the proceeds over the cost in cash.

Investment in this stock is not a risk, for anthracite coal lands are rapidly rising in value.

The shares to be sold are limited, and are nearly all subscribed for. Immediate application is necessary to secure any. Office, No. 71 Broadway, Room No. 50.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES. No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS are Sole Agents for the celebrated Alexandre Organs for the United States.

THE WEBER PIANO-FORTE

Is admitted the best Piano-forte made, because the maker, besides being a practical mechanic of long experience, is also a thorough musician, thus combining advantages possessed by no other manufacturer in the United States. Such is the testimony of S. B. Mills, Robert Heller, Geo. F. Bristow, Wm. Mason, C. Jerome Hopkins, Charles Fradel, Max Maretzek, Carl Anschutz, John Zundle, Maurice Strakosch, Giovani Sconcia, Edward and Henry Mollenhauer, Louis Schreiber, Emil and Fred Brandeis, W. R. Bassford, Theo. Moelling, and every good musician in the United States. Warerooms No. 155 West Broadway, near Canal-st.

STEINWAY & SON

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others is, that the firm is composed of five practical piano-forte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

HAZLETON BROTHERS,

OVERSTRUNG, GRAND AND SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MANUFACTURERS,

Reported Rout of Forrest's Army near Tuscaloosa—Many Prisoners Taken.

The War Eagle's Paducah special dispatch announces the complete rout of FORREST'S army, near Tuscaloosa, Ala., by WILSON'S cavalry force. Many prisoners were taken. No dates or further particulars are given.

BUFORD, with a small force, is reported near Corinth.

STONEMAN'S EXPEDITION.

His Forces Said to Have Cut the Railroad Between Dansville and Greensboro.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Recent Achievements—The Pursuit of Lee—The Operations Near Amelia Court-house—Capture of Guns, Prisoners, &c.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 10.

A letter dated Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Jetersville, Amelia County, April 7, says that on Monday the cavalry under SHERIDAN made an important capture of prisoners, guns and wagons. It appears that LEE'S army was moving as rapidly west as his limited transportation and the demoralized condition of his troops would permit, on the road between Amelia Court-house and Jetersville.

The cavalry having gained possession of the Danville Railroad some time previous, were not long in discovering his whereabouts. The Fifth Corps being well up in support, and having built intrenchments during Tuesday night, preparations for an attack were soon made.

The country here is very uneven with woods and deep ravines, making it extremely difficult for cavalry to operate to any advantage.

The Second Division, under Gen. DAVIES, were principally engaged, and the gallant manner in which they charged and drove the enemy is highly spoken of by those who witnessed it.

But the rebel infantry came up to the support of their cavalry, forming in the woods and attacking under cover.

Our men were, therefore, forced back on the infantry, but not until a thousand prisoners, six guns, a mile of wagon trains, together with the drivers, were in possession of the brave Second Division.

Five of the guns were new and of the Armstrong pattern, said to have been a present from the English Government to the Confederacy, and had not yet been used. They are beautiful specimens of manufacture. The wagons, about two hundred in number, were mostly empty, and were burnt after the mules had been cut loose and brought in. Along with the train was a wagon belonging to Gen. FITZHUGH LEE, containing his baggage, &c.

In this engagement SHERIDAN took three hundred prisoners, among whom was Gen. BRAGG'S Chief of Artillery. The flag of the artillery headquarters of Northern Virginia, with many other trophies, was also captured.

Maj. THOMAS, commanding the First Pennsylvania Regiment, lost a leg in the fight. He is a brave officer, and his command did gallant service. They took seven flags, with many prisoners.

Col. JANEWAY, of the First New-Jersey Cavalry, was killed.

The prisoners taken the past three days foot up fifteen hundred, including a number of officers.

The correspondent gives some further particulars, already in substance officially telegraphed, and adds that the greatest credit is due to the Army of the Potomac and its Commander for the bravery and energy displayed during the series of battles. Some of these have been marching continuously for several days—the Fifth Corps making over thirty miles yesterday—in their efforts to reach the foe.

THE MOVEMENT AGAINST MOBILE.

Success of Gen. Steele's Expedition—Capture of a Rebel General and a Number of Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Dec. 10.

The Navy Department to-day received the following:

COMMANDANT'S OFFICE, NAVY-YARD,
PENSACOLA, Fla., March 30, 1865.

Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy, Washington:

Brig.-Gen. ASBOTH, commanding the Military District of West Florida, has just informed me that Maj.-Gen. STEELE, commanding the Thirteenth Army Corps, had met with decided success, having captured, on the 25th inst., the rebel Gen. CLANTON, who is mortally wounded, taken 250 prisoners, seized two railway trains at Evergreen, ten miles above Pollard, on the Montgomery Railroad, and had torn up and destroyed the railway track both at Evergreen and Pollard.

Maj.-Gen. STEELE, at the latest advices, Sunday, the 26th, was marching on Blakeley.

I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
S. J. N. ARMSTRONG,
Commodore Commandant.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Draft.

IMPORTANT LETTER FROM MAJ. DODGE, A. A. P. M. G.

Col. R. D. GOODWIN, Chairman of the Draft Relief Association of the Twenty-second Ward, has received the following letter from Maj. DODGE, in reply to a communication stating that our recent victories in the field had, in the minds of those drafted, removed all idea of their ever being called on as conscripts, and asking whether there is any necessity for further action on the part of the Twenty-second Ward Committee, "as they did not desire to waste their time nor the people's money in uncalled-for efforts:"

OFFICE A. A. PROVOST-MARSHAL-GENERAL, AND SUPERINTENDENT VOLUNTEER RECRUITING SERVICE, SOUTHERN DIVISION OF NEW-YORK.
NEW-YORK, April 8, 1864.

Col. R. D. Goodwin, Chief of the Advisory Board, &c.:

SIR: Yours of the 6th inst. is received. I regret that the people of the Twenty-second Ward have farmed so erroneous an impression of the results, (to them, as connected with the draft,) of our recent victories.

I have no reason to think that New-York City will not be required to fill her quota under the last call. On the contrary, I believe the men to be necessary, and that the Government will exact them.

Orders have been given, and arrangements made in every district, that the moment the Provost-Marshal finds himself not fully occupied enlisting volunteers and substitutes, he proceeds with the duties connected with the draft.

Unless ordered to the contrary by the War Department, I shall exact of New-York City every man of her quota, and the sooner the people make up their minds that the men must be furnished, the better it will be for all concerned.

I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
RICHARD L. DODGE,
Brevet Lieut.-Col. U. S. A., A. A. P. M. G.

Board of Aldermen.

A COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ENDEAVOR TO GET THE DRAFT POSTPONED.

This board met at 2 p. m., yesterday, Mr. JONES in the chair.

An ordinance creating the office of Superintendent of the City Telegraph at a salary of $3,000 per annum, was referred to the Committee on Salaries and Offices.

A petition was received from the Atlantic Mail Steamship Company, asking that the resolution adopted by the board to reëstablish the ferry running from the foot of Canal-street to Hoboken, be reconsidered, as the operation of such a ferry would greatly interfere with the business of the Company.

Referred to the Committee on Ferries.

Mr. FARLEY presented a preamble and resolutions to the effect that whereas, the surrender of Gen. ROBERT E. LEE and the Army of Northern Virginia are evidently the precursions of peace, and whereas volunteers are offering in superior numbers to keep the ranks of our army filled, the President of the United States be earnestly but respectfully requested to suspend the draft in this city for 60 or 90 days, to give time for the quota to be filled by voluntary enlistments.

The resolutions were adopted, and Mr. FARLEY then moved that a committee be appointed to proceed to Washington and confer with the President on the subject.

The motion was carried, and the following gentlemen were appointed as such committee: Farley, Jones, Jeremiah, Ryers and Gedney.

Mr. FLYNN offered a resolution requesting the opinion of the Corporation Counsel as to the validity of the new Fire Department law, the present manner of electing members of the Board of Supervisors, and on several other points in relation to the workings of the City and County Government.

It was laid over, and the board shortly afterward adjourned to Monday next.

The Furman-street Disaster—Investigation by Coroner Lynch.

The investigation in regard to the Furman-street disaster in Brooklyn was continued before Coroner LYNCH yesterday afternoon.

JAMES S. SMITH, residing in Portland, near DeKalb avenue, testified that he was on the roof of the burning building with four others. They were cautioned to fall back by Mr. GEORGE HAVILAND, a resident on the Heights. They went away, but the firemen did not go. They had their pipes playing on the fire at the time. Did not hear any orders given by any fireman in relation to the danger.

WM. WESSELS, of No. 148 York-street, Jersey City, testified to being on the roof of the burning building, in company with several others; walked about the roof, and saw the Chief Engineer; remarked to him that it was hardly any use to put water on there, and was told to mind my own business; heard some one caution us to come away, as it was dangerous; after the caution the citizens commenced to fall back; some twenty firemen remained; the Chief Engineer was there, and witness thought he fell down with the rest when the roof gave way.

ELISHA D. HURLBUT, of No. 90 Hicks-street, testified that he heard the Chief Engineer give an order for the men to leave the roof, in consequence of the streams of water they threw down into the street below.

Robert Barr, Assistant Engineer, testified that he was about twelve or fifteen feet from the burning building when the roof fell in; did not hear any orders given to the men on the roof to get off; assisted in taking the men out of the ruins; had no conversation with the Chief Engineer at the fire; did not ask him to order the men off the roof; ordered the men on the street to play on the men on the roof, because they were playing on the men in the street below; did not think there was any danger at that time; the men on the roof were doing no good, as they could not play on the fire.

George Colgan, of No. 11 Adams-street, testified that the stream from the roof interfered with the firemen in the street, and that the Chief Engineer ordered them to stop.

Thomas Hudson, of No. 33 Court-street, testified that he was present at the fire; was on the roof; heard some one telling the Chief Engineer that there was danger of the roof falling in; the Chief told him to mind his own business; heard afterward that the man who warned the chief was Mr. MERRITT; no one ordered the firemen either to go on or off the roof; the Chief told the men to stick to the pipe.

FREDERICK F. PHILLIPS, of No. 64 Bergen-street, and attached to Engine No. 14, testified that he was on the roof and heard a man speak of the combustible nature of the contents of the building. Witness was down in the street when the roof fell in; assisted in helping some of the men out of the ruins.

JOHN J. MERRITT, of No. 76 Columbia-street, described the construction of the buildings, and stated that there was between three and four feet of earth on the roof, which was used as a garden. A number of men were on the roof. Told the Chief Engineer they were doing no good there, and had better leave; received no reply at that time; saw the men playing upon those in Furman street, and again told the Chief Engineer that they were doing no good, and he replied that he knew his own business, and that I had better mind my own; think it not unlikely that the Chief thought I was trying to save my shrubbery at the time I spoke to him; thought him reckless; did not think the roof was in danger of falling then; the roof fell in about five minutes after I spoke to the Chief. Witness' wife cried to the firemen that it was dangerous for them to be on the roof. After the roof fell in witness persevered in his efforts to speak to the Chief, but he refused to listen to him.

AUGUSTA B. TORREY, of No. 390 Cumberland-street, testified to being on the roof at the time it fell in: was ordered by the Chief to remain there and play on the window; the man with the pipe of No. 11 Engine fell with the roof, and witness caught and saved him with others; the men went on the roof of their own accord.

GEORGE A. KERR, of Hose No. 8, Elisha Vroughton, of Engine No. 17; Michael Kennedy, of Engine No. 7; John Gibson, of Hose No. 2, and Charles M. Cooker, of Hose No. 2, testified substantially to the same state of facts, when the inquest was adjourned.

Naval Movements.

THE MILWAUKEE AND OSAGE.

These two iron-clad vessels, which were destroyed on the 28th ult. by torpedoes in the naval engagement with land batteries at Mobile, were built at St. Louis, Mo. The Milwaukee was launched Feb. 4, 1864, while the Osage was launched in the Summer of 1863. The Milwaukee was double turreted, carried four guns, and was 970 tons burden; the Osage had one turret, carried two guns, and was 523 tons burden. Both vessels have seen active service on the Western rivers, and since the opening of the Missippi have been engaged in the Gulf of Mexico. It is reported that eight of the crew were lost by the explosion of the torpedoes and two more were wounded. These vessels are not entirely submerged, and from last accounts, the turret of the Milwaukee was still employed and used as a stationary fort in silencing the land batteries. It is reported that at no distant day they will be raised. The following is a list of officers of the Milwaukee: Lieut.-Commander, J. H. Gillis; Acting Volunteer Lieutenant, F. J. Gover; Pilot, Robt. Moore; Acting Ensigns, J. W. Crocker, Miles T. Crocker, R. J. Coombs, and E. D. Spingler; Acting Assistant Surgeon, Nathaniel Brewster; Acting Assistant Paymaster, Gustavus H. Horn; Engineers—First Assistant, John Purdy; Second Assistants, John Adkins, Henry Bauer, and Frank Lepoid; Acting Third Assistants, Freeman A. Hurd, H. L. Dickerson, Wm. A. Blanch, Henry Bianch, and Jacob Wahl; Acting Master's Mates, Geo. H. Cole, Thos. W. Stewart, and Geo. W. Peorigo; Paymaster's Clerk, Robert S. Gillis.

The New Evening Stock Exchange.

Last evening the Messrs. GALLAGHER BROS. opened their new Evening Stock Exchange on Twenty-fourth-street, adjoining the Fifth-avenue Hotel. The building is a neat two-story, marble-front edifice, the second floor of which is used as the exchange. It is 45 feet front and 96 feet deep, with a high ceiling. The walls and ceiling are frescoed, and the room is well lighted. Above the entrance is a gallery, for spectators, an admission fee to which is charged by the proprietors. Within the railing, occupying about half of the room, are 276 seats, which are rented for $2 50 per annum. Last evening nearly all of the seats were taken, except a small number on the rostrum, which will be sold this evening at auction. The room was opened with a brief speech by Mr. GALLAGHER, when the regular call proceeded, and a large amount of gold and stocks sold.

Billiards.

THE DEBUT OF M. CARME.

Notwithstanding the glorious prospects of peace, which it is natural to suppose would swallow up all the other excitements, the first appearance of M. CARME, which takes place at the Cooper Institute, this evening, is creating a real sensation, and we understand that many of our first citizens procured family tickets yesterday. The arrangements of the hall are excellent. Sufficient seats are to be removed, to set the table on the flat space in the centre; and the lights are to be shaded in order to obviate the unpleasant glare, so often complained of.

During the evening M. CARME will play the French game with Messrs. PHELAN and GOLDTHWAIT, as well as exhibit the power of the masses and other most intricate shots.

BILLIARD IN HOBOKEN.

A number of amateurs resident in this suburb, across the river, have arranged for a tournament, which is to commence on Thursday of next week. They have selected a neat cue as the emblem for their champion. The games are to be 300 points up, with 2⅜ inches ball, on a Phelan and Collender four pocket standard American table, and the rules laid down by the Billiard Congress of 1863 are to be observed. We understand there will be about eight contestants.

The Right of Pedestrians in New-York—Another Verdict against the Second-Avenue Railroad Company.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Garvin and a Jury.

Ann Baxter vs. The Second-avenue Railroad Company.—This case, which was noticed in the TIMES of Friday last, was concluded yesterday. The jury rendered a verdict of $3,000 for the plaintiff, and on motion of plaintiff's counsel an allowance of $150 was added as counsel fee. The facts and circumstances, as they were developed on the trial, possess an interest for all who are in the habit of walking the streets of the city.

Ann Baxter, the plaintiff in the suit, aged about 54 years, was attempting to cross Second-avenue at Thirty-first-street on the 6th of January last, when she slipped and fell on the east or up town track of that railroad. There had been a snow storm the night previous, and the company had been obliged to double their teams, as they usually do in such cases. Immediately after Mrs. Baxter fell she made efforts to recover herself, and had partly got upon her feet, and was trying to get across the street, when a down car, with four horses attached, and, as the testimony showed, going at a rapid rate, struck her. She was knocked down, run over, and dragged several rods before the car was brought to a stop. The result was that the plaintiff's collar bone was fractured, also one of her legs. Her head and one of her lungs were much injured. She was confined to her bed for many months, and her physicians testify that she will always be an invalid by reason of the injuries thus received.

Judge GARVIN, in charging the jury, admonished them not to be influenced by the fact that the plaintiff was a poor widow woman and the defendants a wealthy corporation without a soul. They were to judge of the facts in the case from the testimony adduced, without any reference to the condition of the respective parties. To enable the plaintiff to recover, she must show that she had exercised ordinary prudence and care in attempting to cross the street at the time of the accident. If she had been imprudent, and her negligence or want of care had in any degree contributed to produce the results complained of, then she could not recover, even if the defendants had been guilty of gross carelessness. The plaintiff must come into court, in cases of this kind, with clean hands. The law upon this subject had been well settled, and that recently by the Court of Appeals. It was in evidence that the streets were snowy and slippery at the time; that the defendants were compelled to put four horses instead of two on the car, in order to propel it; that at the time of the accident they were running down the road at an unusual rate of speed, and that the brakeman who, under such circumstances should have been on the front platform with the driver, had jumped off shortly before, and consequently was not at his post. The result was, the driver of the four horses could not apply the brakes in time to prevent running over the woman, if he had been inclined so to do. There was a great conflict of evidence as to what the driver did. One witness testified that the driver made no effort whatever to stop the car, and others swore equally positive that great diligence was used by him in trying to avoid the accident. The jury, after being out two hours, returned with a verdict of $3 000 for plaintiff, as above stated. The case will be taken to the General Term.

For plaintiff, Washington Murray, Esq.; for defendants, Ex-Judge Slosson and John H. Platt, Esq.

To the total of $46,424,957, may be added over ten millions in the National Banks not reporting through the Clearing-House. The Bank average of Specie is down half a million, and the Specie balances in the Treasury Office are about two millions higher than last Monday, including half a million from the San Francisco Office.

The market for Money is again very easy at 6 ⅌ cent. to Brokers, and the Stock Exchange buoyant on the news of the surrender of LEE and the close approach of PEACE. There are great congratulations going on between the Merchants, Bankers, and Brokers over the auspicious tidings of the day. The upward turn of the Stock and Money markets on the news is not unexpected, after the indications following the fall of Richmond last week. The Railways have bounded forward 2@3 ⅌ cent. this afternoon, under great excitement in the Second Board, and the Government Stocks are firm at last week's 1½@2 ⅌ cent. advance. The subscriptions to the 7-30 Loan at the First National Bank amounted to $400,000.

The Gold Room fell 4 ⅌ cent. on the later news from GRANT of LEE'S surrender, making 10 ⅌ cent. since the fall of Petersburgh and Richmond. The range of sales to-day, was 145½@144¼ ⅌ cent. In Exchange on London there is not much doing for the Boston steamer. The Gold rate is quoted 108¾@109 ⅌ cent.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, the following quotations were made, as compared with Saturday. There was an increased demand on Wall-street for United States Stocks, and the quotations are ½@⅝ ⅌ cent. higher than in the morning, leaving off quite buoyantly. Some of the Railways are not so high at the close as the best sales at the Second Board, but the general market is firm. Gold 144¼ ⅌ cent., and the business in the Gold Room dull:

FALSE DELICACY.

The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath, and, through over-squeamishness, dislike to refer to it, commit a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they are aware of the merits and great efficacy of the Fragrant SOZODONT. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

Sold by all druggists.

CONSUMPTION—CONSUMPTION.—We say to persons having consumption, in whatever stage of the disease, use Dr. WISHART'S Pine Tree Tar Cordial, which is readily taken up by the blood and carried to lungs, and the healing principles of the tar act upon the inflamed sores of the lungs and stop their decay at once, and the patient's life is saved. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial has great power to dissolve the thick mucous that stops up the wind-passages of the lungs, and expels it from the system. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial purifies the blood and cleanses it of all scrofulous matter that is constantly breeding sores, internal and external. Salt rheum, blotches on the face, and all skin diseases, are especially cured by Dr. WISHART'S Pine Tree Tar Cordial. Office No. 10 North Second-street, Philadelphia. Sold at HELMBOLD'S Drug and Chemical Warehouse, No. 594 Broadway, New-York.

ATWOOD'S
PATENT DRILLING MACHINE
PILE DRIVER
AND HYDRAULIC SAND PUMP.

PRACTICAL TESTS having fully demonstrated the superiority of this machine over all others for the purpose of sinking Oil Wells, the undersigned is now prepared to receive orders for the same.

This machinery comprises everything requisite for the boring of oil wells, excepting the STEAM ENGINE AND CAST-IRON DRIVING-PIPE, (but will be furnished, if desired, at a reasonable price,) and dispenses with the use of the derrick-rope, bull-wheel and other cumbrous and expensive fixtures now in use, and is so arranged, being constructed on wheels and portable, that it can be easily removed for the purpose of sinking wells in different localities.

THE DETRITUS is removed from the well by our Patent Hydraulic process, and does not require the removal of the drill from the boring. This process not only removes all the detritus in from 5 to 10 minutes, but likewise effectually clears out and opens all the small oil veins that are so often entirely closed up by the old process of sand pumping.

WITH THIS MACHINE and a practical engineer, a well can be sunk from 400 to 600 feet, within a period of from 15 to 30 days after the soil-pipe has been driven.

Arrangements are being made for the construction and delivery of these machines at New-York, Norwich, Newburgh, N. Y., and Pittsburgh, Penn.
